THE PRESENT CRISIS.

Mayor Hall Recedes from His Late Untenable Position.

He Takes Advice Although He Does not Believe in It.

Opinions of the Corporation Counsel Concerning the Situation.

Proposed Effort to Recover the Stolen City Funds.

Mr. Green Sustained by the Citizens' Executive Committee.

Gen. McClellan's Letter Declining to be Controller.

There was but little excitement in the City Hall yesterday, and there was very little talk, indeed, as to the future course of events, the only opinions expressed being that the Mayor must either back down from the position he had assumed, or resign. He arrived at the Hall about noon, and contrary to his usual custom sat in his outer office, giving audience to all that cared to approach him. In answer to questions put to him, he said that several documents would be ready for the Press about 3 P. M., and that an arrangement had been effected which would, in some measure, at least, put an end to the present dead-lock. In the meantime Mr. Hall was busy writing and answering the questions put to him by visitors, the majority of whom were newspaper men. About 4 o'clock the Mayor's Secretary distributed copies of the following documents:

LETTER FROM GEN. M'CLELLAN.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 18, 1871.

A. Oakey Hall, Mayor of the City of New-York:

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 16th inst., conveying to me the very flattering offer of the Controllership of this City. While I should willingly render a service to the public, were it in my power, in an emergency like the present, nevertheless a due regard to my public and private duties at this time compels me to decline the appointment. With my sincere thanks for the compliment paid me,

I am very truly yours,

GEO. B. McCLELLAN.

LETTER FROM THE CORPORATION COUNSEL.

A. Oakey Hall, Mayor:

MY DEAR SIR: I regret that my absence from the City on Monday last prevented my seeing you as you desired. I have since then carefully examined the cases, opinions and memoranda submitted by you affecting your future action in the matter of the office of Controller of the City of New-York. It seems to me that you should be governed in the matter more by considerations of expediency and sound policy than by those merely of strict legal right or power. Even on the assumption that you clearly possess the power to remove a person holding that office, or that a vacancy unquestionably existed, and that a new appointment made by you be positively upheld by the Court, there is, nevertheless, as you informed me, an antagonistic claimant, who would have a right to appeal from the decision of a single Judge against him, and who would, no doubt, prosecute such an appeal. The law's delay is proverbial, and during the progress of the litigation, at a very critical period of the financial condition of the City, already complicated by one lawsuit and injunction, there would be presented the indecorous spectacle of two persons claiming to be entitled to the office of Controller, each advised to defend his own claim and contest that of his rival. From this state of things great confusion would inevitably ensue, and great damage to the City Treasury, and to the public creditors, who would be seriously, and not unreasonably, dissatisfied at the delay which would be sure to occur in the payment of just and legitimate claims.

If it had been your desire to bring about the accession of a new incumbent into the office of Controller, you seem to me to have exhausted every legal expedient that could have suggested itself for that purpose, even at the risk of some apparent inconsistency. Under all the circumstances, therefore, and with the opinion of so eminent a jurist as CHARLES O'CONOR before me, I cannot advise you at present to take any step that would lead to complicated and mischievous litigation. The refusal of Gen. McCLELLAN to accept the position of Controller, of which I am informed, is an additional reason for such a conclusion on my part.

Legal discussion might, as you intimate, bring up questions of law which you think could not have been presented to Mr. O'CONOR'S consideration. Among them I select from your memoranda these: Whether the Controller, having powers and duties conferred on him by many general laws, other than the laws of 1870 and 1871, commonly called the charter, and as a member of various committees, can transfer these powers and duties to a subordinate by virtue of a section in an act which may be regarded as a "local act," or whether that section may not be unconstitutional, in so far as it permits the Controller to relinquish not only charter powers, but all other powers, or whether an abdication of functions beyond and in addition to those embraced in the charter section may not amount, ipso facto, to a resignation and create a vacancy.

These and various other questions suggested to me are, no doubt, open to discussion, and it is, I think, probable that a legal contest in this matter would present novel and important considerations as to the law of implied resignation, vacancy and removal, in addition to these which the eminent jurist to whom I have referred may have thought it necessary to advert in his opinion. But returning to the question of expediency and sound policy, which I think of most importance in this case, and laying aside these legal questions for the present, as head of the Law Department, I now advise you not to make another appointment, to withdraw your notice to the various departments, and to treat with Mr. CONNOLLY as Controller. If you do not regard him as entitled to fill the office de jure by treating him as Controller at least de facto, you will adopt a course which is in my opinion necessary to prevent financial difficulties and complications, and the continuance of that public excitement and sense of insecurity which a prolonged legal controversy in this case would inevitably intensify. It should be borne in mind also that long before that controversy could be determined a new Legislature will have assembled, who will then be able more calmly and deliberately to consider any matters connected with this case which may be properly submitted for their consideration. I remain, dear Sir, yours faithfully,

RICHARD O'GORMAN.

THE MAYOR ADVISED TO SUE THOSE WHO SWINDLED THE CITY.

LAW DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF COUNSEL TO THE CORPORATION, CITY OF NEW-YORK,
Sept. 19, 1871.

Hon. A. Oakey Hall, Mayor, &c.:

MY DEAR MAYOR: Since the decision of Judge BARNARD in FOLEY vs. The Mayor and others, in which he gave a quasi judicial sanction to the rumors which have been rife in this City of gross extravagance in some of the bills presented by various contractors, and paid to them out of the funds of the City, it has seemed to me proper and necessary that some effective legal steps should be taken by the Corporation to recover these moneys, if sufficient evidence of fraud can be obtained to sustain action.

I have been so incessantly occupied for the last few days in attending to office business—writing opinions, &c.—which has accumulated during my absence in Court on the Foley case, that I have not been able to devote my mind specially to the question, but I think it a question of pressing importance, and I beg to call to it the attention of you as chief executive officer of the City, and to ask you for your instructions in the premises.

Yours faithfully,

RICHARD O'GORMAN,
Counsel to the Corporation.

THE MAYOR'S REPLY.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, CITY HALL,
NEW-YORK, Sept. 19, 1871.

MY DEAR SIR: You are the head of the Law Department; yours is the full discretion to bring any action at law which you may deem it best to commence for promoting the good name or better prosperity of the City or of its Treasury. And I have such entire confidence in your judgment and experience that I leave the matter within that discretion. I know you will do your duty when you have ascertained it, regardless of such consequences as fall outside of duty's sphere.

Very truly, your obedient servant.

A. OAKEY HALL, Mayor,

Hon. RICHARD O'GORMAN, Counsel to the Corporation.

INTERVIEW WITH THE MAYOR.

Shortly after these documents had been made public our reporter had an interview with the Mayor, and asked him whether it was understood that he agreed with and meant to take the advice of the Corporation Counsel. To this Mr. HALL replied in sharp and decided tones, "Nothing is understood; I have said nothing." He was next asked what he thought of the Corporation Counsel's opinion. "I have really not had time to consider it," said his Honor, with a weary expression of face. "You will remember that the President of the United States followed Attorney-General AKERMAN'S advice when he did not believe in it." Mr. HALL then went on to speak of the present condition of affairs, saying that in communicating with the Finance Department he should recognize Mr. CONNOLLY only, and if he addressed a letter to the Controller, and that official deputed his deputy to open it, that was Mr. CONNOLLY'S affair and not his, the Mayor's. Formerly, he said, whenever Mr. CONNOLLY appointed a deputy to officiate for him, he sent a notice to all the heads of departments, informing them of the fact, and designating the time when such appointment should terminate. "Why he has not done so in this instance," added the Mayor, "I don't know."

The interview here terminated, but as the reporter left he heard the Mayor murmur: "I will immure myself in some place where no one can find me."

THE MAYOR RECALLS HIS FORMER LETTER.

Yesterday we published a letter from the Mayor to the heads of departments, informing them that he did not recognize either Mr. CONNOLLY as Controller or Mr. GREEN as Deputy. Yesterday he sent another letter, recalling the former one so far as Mr. CONNOLLY is concerned.

THE FINANCE DEPARTMENT.

Quiet reigned in this Department yesterday. Mr. CONNOLLY and Mr. GREEN were hard at work all day, and numerous visitors called, only a few of whom, however, obtained admittance to the private office. During the morning Mr. GREEN attended the sale of property for unpaid assessments, and shortly afterward he gave directions for the immediate preparation of a schedule of all officers and clerks of the Department of Finance, and the date of their appointments, their salaries, and the nature of the duties transacted by them, and the preparation of the schedule was immediately commenced. From this it may be inferred that a change will soon be made in the personel of the Department, and that all sinecure positions will be lopped off.

VISIT OF A DEPUTATION FROM THE COMMITTEE OF SEVENTY.

During the early part of the afternoon a deputation from the Committee of Seventy, consisting of Messrs. Meyer Stern, Edwards Pierrepont, Jackson S. Schultz, Robert B. Roosevelt, Thos. A. Ledwith, H. G. Stebbins, William F. Havemeyer and R. D. Hatch, called at the Controller's office to present to Mr. GREEN the complimentary resolutions adopted by the Committee, and which will be found elsewhere.

The presentation was made by Hon. HENRY G. STEBBINS, Chairman of the Committee of Seventy, who said:

Mr. GREEN: I am intrusted with the gratifying duty of presenting to you the resolutions passed this day at a meeting of citizens who represent the meeting held at the Cooper Institute, Sept. 4, and known as the Citizen Committee of Seventy. These resolutions and the action of the Committee today have grown out of your late appointment as Deputy Controller, and the very deep interest felt by your fellow-citizens in your selection for the responsible duties of that office. It is a source of great satisfaction to me personally, knowing you as well as I do, to be made the medium of stating to you the cordial and earnest unanimity with which these resolutions were passed, testifying, as they do, to the high opinion entertained by your fellow-citizens of your great ability and unimpeachable integrity, demonstrated in many important and highly onerous public duties. Nothing, I am sure, would have been more grateful to you had you been present and witnessed these unqualified evidences of the estimation in which you are held by men of both political parties.

Mr. HAVEMEYER followed in a few remarks highly complimentary to Mr. GREEN, and Mr. GREEN briefly replied in acknowledgment.

The Controller, who was present, entered into conversation with the deputation, and said that he had found himself obliged to seek advice, and he had gone to the best man, his old friend of twenty years—WM. F. HAVEMEYER. Mr. HAVEMEYER had asked him whether he would follow his advice if he gave it, and he had promised that he would, and he had kept his promise. Those with whom he had once held the most cordial relations now turned round on him and wished to destroy him, but he did not propose to sacrifice himself to screen others. He had given, he thought, a sufficient proof of his intention to have the affairs of his Department more rigorously scrutinized for the future by the appointment of Mr. GREEN. Hereafter all would be open to the public, and no payment would be made until every voucher had passed through Mr. GREEN'S hands.

The interview shortly afterward terminated.

What Mr. Richard O'Gorman Says.

Mr. RICHARD O'GORMAN, Counsel to the Corporation, visited the TIMES Office last evening for the purpose of correcting the proof of his letter to Mayor HALL. He procured a copy of the TIMES pamphlet exposing the corruptions of the Ring, and said that the men who had obtained the payment of fraudulent claims against the City (whose names appear in the pamphlet) would be proceeded against if proper evidence of the allegations against them were obtained. As for officers of the City Government, they were his clients, and it was not his duty to prosecute any charges that were brought against them. He had applied to Mayor HALL, as the head of the City Government, for instructions in regard to bringing suits for the recovery of moneys that might have been wrongfully obtained from the Treasury, and the Mayor had virtually directed him to proceed in all such cases as he thought proper. He was sorry the Mayor had made public his letter on this subject. When a client consulted a lawyer he did not always direct him to bring a suit. He gave him his case to look into first. So it was in this case. He did not know yet against whom he might bring suits.

Practical Action of Citizens of the Twenty-Second Ward.

An impromptu meeting of citizens, without distinction of party, of the Twenty-second Ward, was held on Monday evening, in West Fiftieth-street, to extend their support and cooperation to the Committee of Seventy who are investigating the charges preferred against the City officials. As evidence of their support a subscription was entered into, and 102 gentlemen each subscribed $1, which amount was directed to be handed by the Chairman to the Committee of Seventy. A resolution was adopted to organize a permanent Association, and a committee of ten was appointed to put the resolution into effect. The Chairman handed the proceeds of the subscription, $102, yesterday to Mr. EMIL SAUER, the Treasurer of the Committee.

THE COMMITTEE OF SEVENTY.

Special Meeting—Speech of Judge Pierrepont—Resolutions Approving the Appointment of Andrew H. Green.

At 12 o'clock yesterday, the Committee of Seventy met at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, HENRY G. STEBBINS presiding. There was a full attendance.

Judge PIERREPONT spoke in favor of the appointment of Mr. GREEN in a very fervent speech, which was in substance, as follows:

No one who read Mayor HALL'S official communication to the Controller on the 11th inst., explicitly stating that he had no power of removal, could differ with him in the soundness of that view, and it is quite preposterous and an insult to the good sense of our citizens for him to come out five days afterward with a manifesto, declaring that he had that power and would exercise the right of removal. Mr. GREEN is, in my judgment, legally appointed and clearly holds his office in strict accordance with the spirit and letter of the law. He has been long and thoroughly tried in a similar office of trust; no one doubts his integrity, and all must acknowledge his peculiar fitness for the office. He is, moreover, a member of the dominant party—a life-long Democrat, and no one can take exception to his appointment on the ground that he is a Republican. It is the duty of all good citizens to sustain him in his position by all lawful means, and if lawless violence is used to dispossess him, it is our duty to be prepared to resist any force which should attempt to bring revolution and anarchy upon our City. [Great applause.]

Judge BARRETT also made some remarks on the subject. He said that inasmuch as the advice of Mr. HAVEMEYER to Mr. CONNOLLY and Mr. GREEN seemed to have been solely a personal matter, it were just as well to appoint a committee of five from this Committee to wait upon Mr. GREEN and Mr. CONNOLLY, to notify each of the purport and passage of the resolutions sustaining Mr. GREEN'S appointment and Mr. CONNOLLY'S position.

The following resolutions were introduced by Mr. H. F. SPALDING, and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we congratulate the citizens and taxpayers of the City of New-York upon the appointment of ANDREW H. GREEN to the office of Deputy Controller, for the assurance it gives of an honest and intelligent administration of the business of the City in the immediate future.

Resolved, That if the Mayor, in his recent request for the resignation of Mr. CONNOLLY, was actuated by a desire to fill his place by a man of fitness and fidelity, he could not have made a happier choice than the selection of Mr. GREEN, so well known to the community for his spotless integrity, and able and honest management of the public trusts heretofore confided to him.

Resolved, That we call upon all good citizens, by their moral support, to sustain Mr. ANDREW H. GREEN in his present position as guardian of the public funds of the City.

Resolved, That a committee will aid Mr. GREEN pecuniarily and by counsel, to the extent of our power, in all lawful ways, to retain the position in which, fortunately for the people, he has been placed in this trying epoch of our municipal affairs.

A committee consisting of the following gentlemen was then appointed to present Mr. GREEN with a copy of the resolutions: Henry G. Stebbins, President; William F. Havemeyer, Vice-President; Roswell D. Hatch, Secretary; Meyer Stern, Edwards Pierrepont, Jackson S. Schultz, Robert B. Roosevelt and Thomas A. Ledwith.

The meeting then adjourned, and the Committee proceeded to the Controller's office; what there occurred is given elsewhere.

The Investigating Committee.

The Joint Committee of Investigation held a secret session at 2 P. M. yesterday. On Thursday they propose to meet in open session, and to make a report on the debt and some other matters connected with the Finance Department.

Mr. Sweeny in Town but Invisible—A Consultation Last Night.

Mr. SWEENY arrived in town yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The Mayor had already received the letter of advice from Mr. O'GORMAN, and had resolved to acquiesce in what he found to be unavoidable, the recognition of Mr. CONNOLLY as Controller. A TIMES reporter made an effort to find Mr. SWEENY in the evening, in the hope of obtaining his views upon the crisis in the affairs of the Ring, of which he is the acknowledged leader. The search, however, was a vain one; the great power behind the throne was not to be found. His house in Thirty-fourth-street was visited between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening, but the reporter was informed by the servant who answered the bell that Mr. SWEENY was not at home. Endeavoring to ascertain from the man the whereabouts of his master, that individual became confused and asked the name of the visitor. While the reporter was talking to the servant, a personage about the height of Mr. SWEENY appeared at the end of the hall for a second, took a hasty glance, and then withdrew. The reporter was unable to tell with certainty whether the gentleman was Mr. P. B. SWEENY, in the short space of time allowed for recognition.

The servant insisting that Mr. SWEENY was not at home, and no other information being vouchsafed, the reporter next visited the mansion of WM. M. TWEED, on Fifth-avenue. The windows of the stately brown stone were darkened, and no evidences of there being any one on the premises were visible. Passing Mayor HALL'S brown-stone front on Forty-second-street he inquired of the servant in charge if Mayor HALL was at home, with a faint hope of finding SWEENY there in consultation with the Mayor. He was informed that the Mayor had not been there that night. A visit was then made to the Blossom and Manhattan Clubs, of which Mr. SWEENY is a member, but at each of the club-houses it was stated that Mr. SWEENY had not been there for some time past. His house was again visited between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, and Mr. SWEENY was not at home. His brother, JAMES M. SWEENY, however, received the reporter, and informed him that Mr. PETER B. SWEENY was in consultation and could not possibly be seen until today, at the Department of Parks.

Mr. SWEENY, in reply to the reporter, said that all that had appeared in the papers about his brother's giving advice to Mayor HALL in relation to Controller CONNOLLY and ANDREW H. GREEN was not worthy of credence. He felt certain that there were no newer developments to be made than what had already transpired at the Mayor's office in the afternoon, and which is elsewhere detailed in the TIMES.

A Democratic Protest Against the Recent Attitude of the Mayor.

At a special meeting of the Henry Cooney Democratic Club, of the Sixteenth Ward, held on Monday evening, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It having been proven to the satisfaction of the City and County of New-York that frauds, swindles and unwise and extravagant expenditures have been made by the party in power; and,

Whereas, Mayor HALL'S action in trying to fasten upon Mr. R. B. CONNOLLY the guilt of these charges, by removing him from office, because he appointed, on the recommendation of Ex-Mayor HAVEMEYER, an honorable, upright, fearless and independent Democrat, to fill the office of Deputy Controller pending the investigation of the financial affairs of the City and County, deserves the reprehension of every honest and conscientious man; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the members of the Henry Cooney Democratic Club of the Sixteenth Ward, utter a solemn and earnest protest against the action of the Mayor and his clique in removing Controller CONNOLLY and appointing Gen. GEO. B. McCLELLAN, because it has a tendency to perpetuate the party in power, and offer up Mr. CONNOLLY as a sacrifice for their shortcomings; and furthermore, be it

Resolved, That we extend to Mr. CONNOLLY our heart-felt sympathy and unswerving support in this trying hour, not because we think him any less guilty, but because our love of fair and square dealing has prompted us to seek a thorough investigation, where justice shall be done "though the heavens should fall."

About the Stolen Vouchers.

Superintendent KELSO yesterday told a TIMES reporter that he received information last week that a person connected with the City Hall was boasting that he knew who took the vouchers. He sent for the person and had a conversation with him about the theft. The man made a statement to him, but Mr. KELSO declined to make it known. He said, however, that he attached no importance to it whatever as indicating who the burglar or burglars were.

Mr. Green Competent and Trustworthy.

From the Journal of Commerce.

We expressed in Monday's paper our high appreciation of the choice of Mr. GREEN as an executive head and financial manager, long-experienced and bearing a reputation unsullied by any charge of misfeasance or jobbery, or even the suspicion of it, so far as our recollection and present knowledge go. If the Mayor's second thought should turn out unsound, and the dismissal of the Controller unsanctioned, then, while we should lament over that fact, and feel that the deprivation of Gen. McCLELLAN'S services as Controller was a public misfortune, there would remain the consolation that Mr. GREEN, as custodian of the financial responsibilities of the Metropolis, is one who, judging him from all his record, is entirely competent and trustworthy.

CONNOLLY'S FRIENDS.

Preparations for a Mass-Meeting and Procession—Resolutions and Speeches—Mayor Hall Asked to Resign.

The delegates appointed at the meeting of Controller CONNOLLY'S friends, held at the Sixth Ward Hotel on Saturday last, met last night at the corner of Thirteenth-street and University-place. Mr. TIMOTHY DALY presided. Delegates were present from every ward in the City except the Twelfth, and their absence was owing to a Senatorial meeting which was being held in their district.

The Chairman stated that the object of the meeting was to appoint an executive committee to perfect all the arrangements for a grand mass-meeting and torch-light procession in honor of RICHARD B. CONNOLLY.

The following resolutions were then read and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we approve of the manly and firm course taken by Controller CONNOLLY in defense of law and order, and the sacred trust committed to his hands by the people, as well as the charter passed by our State Legislature.

Resolved, That a Chairman and a Committee of seven be nominated to carry out the arrangements for the mass-meeting and procession, which Committee will confer with the several delegates from the various wards, with power to fix the time and place of said meeting and procession.

Resolved, That Mayor HALL, by his refusal to cooperate with Controller CONNOLLY in carrying out the present financial affairs of the City Government, has created discontent among all classes of the community, and the execration of thousands of working men and laborers, who may possibly be discharged from the public works should the Mayor and his diminished Ring clique persist in such outrageous despotism, and in order to remove the dead lock it is imperative on Mayor HALL to resign, and if he chooses to test public opinion at the polls of the coming election, the people will render their verdict either for his condemnation or approval.

That portion of the resolutions which called on Mayor HALL to resign, was received with continued cheers.

It was moved and carried that the Chairman be empowered to appoint the executive committee and announce the names in the papers.

Mr. EVERET made a speech. He thought the time was come when there should be "no more fencing" on this matter. The people should come out boldly and sustain CONNOLLY. The attack on him by his three former associates was as unreasonable as it was unjust and unfair. He traced the political career of Mr. CONNOLLY from its incipiency, and showed what service he had rendered the cunning and unprincipled members of the Tammany Ring. The cause he was now fighting for was a just one; he was contending against the unexampled cunning and intricacy of the Mayor of New-York. [Prolonged hisses for Mayor HALL.] The cry now raised against CONNOLLY was instituted by a mean, cowardly and infamous Ring, who, to save themselves, sought to degrade a good, industrious and honest man. [Applause.] They tried now to rob him of the office which he had well filled, and to which he was justly entitled. Having first failed to induce him to leave by soft words, they now tried to frighten him out. [Several voices. They can't do it.]

At the conclusion of these remarks several loud and hearty cheers were given for RICHARD B. CONNOLLY, while the members of the Tammany Ring, TWEED, HALL and SWEENY, were received with hisses.

Coroner GOVER was the next speaker. He alluded in very eulogistic terms to Controller CONNOLLY, and said that when last Mayor HALL sought to be elected to office, he (the speaker) was one of his most earnest supporters. He would not, however, be fool enough to do so again. [Cheers.] He was sorry the Mayor had taken such steps. He had previously entertained a different opinion of him, but now HALL and his Tammany confrères should not intervene to destroy the lasting friendship existing between himself and his friend RICHARD B. CONNOLLY. [Applause.] He was proud that Gen. GEORGE B. McCLELLAN, under whom he had the honor to serve in the army, had declined to accept the position which Mayor HALL had offered him. [Cheers for McCLELLAN.] RICHARD B. CONNOLLY was unquestionably in the right, as was evinced by the fact that he had such honest honorable and distinguished men as Ex-Mayor HAVEMEYER coming forward to sustain him in the hour of his trial. [Cheers for Ex-Mayor HAVEMEYER.] He had all the respectable and responsible citizens in the City supporting him. The speaker alluded to the appointment of Mr. GREEN to the office of Deputy Controller, and three hearty cheers were given for the latter gentleman. In conclusion he pronounced a very elegant eulogium on Controller CONNOLLY.

The meeting then adjourned.

MORE GAS.

Tweed, Sweeny & Co.'s Little Plan for Lighting the City—Immense Preparations for Another Rich Haul.

Some years ago there was considerable dissatisfaction with the gas companies. The relief that had been expected from the formation of a rival to the old New-York and the Manhattan in the Metropolitan had not answered expectation. It was obvious that the new company established by HOY and KENNEDY had only used the public indignation against the old companies as a lever to hoist itself up with, for it was actually charging more than either of them. At this time a scheme was originated for a Mutual Savings Gas Company, in which it was proposed to divide the profits with the consumers in some impracticable fashion. It was created by CHAS. PLACE, now Secretary and Director, formerly of the firm of PLACE & TURLEY, sugar refiners, on Front-street. It passed the Legislature, and obtained a charter, without opposition from the other companies, who were satisfied with the assurances of the promoters that their intention was to light the upper part of the island, and not to come in contact with the associations below. But the chimerical character of the plan prevented them from going into active operation, and they made no use of their charter. It was disposed of at length to HOY and KENNEDY, the builders of the Metropolitan, and they contrived by sharp lobbying to have the charter amended in some way so as to make the Mutual part a matter of judgment, but not compulsory. The old companies did not oppose this alteration, as they still believed that the Mutual would create a field for itself in the upper part of the City, according to solemn promise. But they greatly distrusted HOY and KENNEDY. That their suspicions were not groundless, the event will prove. In the Fall of last year, the Mutual purchased of Commodore VANDERBILT'S son, WILLIAM HENRY, the ground known as Webb's Ship-yard. This lot occupies the entire block from Eleventh to Twelfth-street, and from Avenue D to the East River. In payment, the VANDERBILTS accepted $300,000 cash, and $1,000,000 in stock. The Commodore and his son, CORNELIUS, Jr., were also placed on the list of directors; also, Mr. LA BAU, a relative of the Commodore, and one or two of his friends. For as the capital of the concern consisted in a resolution of the Common Council, authorizing them to lay pipes in the City of New-York, it was necessary to make sure of the influence of TWEED and his friends, that the resolution might not be rescinded. A capital stock of $4,000,000 was created, and the major portion handed over to the Ring, the balance being offered to the public. What was left of the stock was then divided by the Ring, useful friends got allotments, and paid at the rate of thirty cents on the dollar, the money of the directors was handed in, and the gas-works were commenced in earnest.

Things being in this forward condition, artfully written communications were addressed as feelers to the New-York Gas Company, and the Manhattan. Consolidation and co-operation were hinted at, but nothing was definite. The answers mentioned this, and requested more intelligible proposals. To these the Mutual responded by throwing the onus on the companies, and asking them what they proposed to do. Mr. EVERETT, of the New-York Gas Company, replied that he was so far open to negotiations that if the Mutual desired to purchase any of the territory of the New-York, and would make a specific bid, it would be placed before the Board and duly considered. Gen. ROOME, of the Manhattan, made no reply. He foresaw that any scheme to buy off the men who own the Mutual would be simply deferring the inevitable contest, and he preferred to save the money of the Company and fight the matter through the Courts to the bitter end. Both these old Companies who, in spite of grumbling have been the faithful servants of the community, foresee what the Ring proposes to do. It is evident that they will have all the street lamps and the public offices taken from them by Mr. TWEED, the Commissioner of Public Works, who will permit the Mutual to charge what it thinks fit. And as the new Company is not compelled by its charter to occupy any specific district and to light it thoroughly, it will avoid the unremunerative places and lay down its mains only in those that will pay well, general thoroughfares and fashionable quarters. Having this privilege, it will contend with its rivals on so advantageous a footing that it will be enabled to undersell them. For they have to take the lean with the fat; the places that are a dead loss with those that yield a handsome profit. But the Mutual will have only the fat of the business.

This, however, is that part of the scheme which alone can be viewed by the public with indifference. But the plans of the Ring are more deeply laid. They contemplate charging an exorbitant price for the public street-lighting, and then the Commissioner of Public Works will issue a report (believed to be already written, with blanks for the figures,) showing the expense of the present system of street-lighting, and recommending that the city furnish its own gas. This will be supported by the Press with solitary exceptions, will be lauded as a sensible and economical proposal, and will be adopted. Then the Ring will sell the Mutual Savings Gas Company, ground, buildings, apparatus, &c., to the City for three millions and will retire gracefully from the gas-making business.

In connection with the Mutual Works, the Ring have purchased the famous Novelty Iron Works on the next block, reaching from Twelfth to Thirteenth-street. The works cover the entire block. They belonged to Mr. JAMES BROWN, of the banking firm of BROWN BROS., in Wall-street, next door to the Custom-house. He disposed of the lot for half a million to Mr. B. P. FAIRCHILD, the real estate man of the Ring, but what he received for the buildings, iron, fixtures, machinery, &c., cannot be ascertained, as he is unwilling to give the information. It would seem from this purchase that TWEED, SWEENY, CONNOLLY, and HUGH SMITH intend to manufacture the iron pipes for their gas concern, and to continue to do so after it shall have been disposed of to the City.

There is another gas company, born of Tammany auspices, coming into the field. Mr. TOM FIELDS obtained, last session, a legislative act granting to him and his assigns the exclusive right to light the Central Park.

THE UNIVERSALIST CONVENTION

Interesting Reports—Satisfactory Condition of the Finances—Missionary Statistics.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—The Universalist's Convention reassembled at 2½ o'clock, President, Rev. Dr. W. H. RYDER, in the chair. The report of the Treasurer was submitted. The following is a synopsis of the report:

From J. M. Pullman, permanent Secretary, in bills receivable	$11,874 90
From premium received in the purchase and exchange of securities	1,368 50

The Board of Trustees submitted their sixth annual report, and a motion was made that a Committee of five be appointed to whom the report should be referred, which was agreed to.

The Chair appointed the following as the Committee: B. F. ROMAINE, of New-York; Rev. J. J. COUTWELL, of Ohio; H. B. METCALF, of Massachusetts; Rev. G. G. BARTHOLOMEW, D. D., of New-York, and CHARLES CARPENTER, of Rhode Island. The Chair also appointed the following as an Auditing Committee: Rev. Mr. DEMAREST, of Massachusetts; Hon. M. QUIMBY, of Missouri, and Mr. BLAKELY, of Minnesota. The following is an abstract of the report of the Board of Trustees: The new constitution adopted last year at Gloucester has been submitted to the State Conventions, and official notice has been received of its ratification by the following States: Maine, New-Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New-York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. No adverse action was reported by any State. The report in detail then refers to the missionary forces and shows the amount of good to be realized therefrom. The number of pupils reported in the Sunday-schools is 38,824, showing a net gain of 2,504. The financial exhibit is also favorable. The value of church property is $5,808,213, while the indebtedness has been reduced $297,802, leaving an indebtedness of $500,054. Church edifices have been erected during the year to the amount of $298,382, while $48,546 have been raised for schools and colleges, and $80,685 for missions and charities, together with $19,550 for miscellaneous purposes, making an aggregate of $734,255, which, added to the $948,537 reported last year, makes the result of our centenary work foot up $1,682,792.

All of the reports were referred, and the Convention has adjourned.

THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Nineteenth Triennial Conclave of the Grand Encampment—Imposing Procession and Interesting Opening Ceremonies.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19.—The nineteenth triennial conclave of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States commenced in this city this morning. Notwithstanding the cloudy and threatening sky, at 9 o'clock the several commanderies which took part in the procession left their head-quarters and marched to the general rendezvous, in front of Barnum's Hotel, for the purpose of escorting the Grand Commandery to the Masonic Temple on Charles-street. The Maryland commanderies being the hosts, joined the head of the column. The procession was under the charge of Sir CHARLES H. MANN, Grand Commander. About 11 o'clock the officers and members of the Grand Encampment of the United States entered the hall of the Masonic Temple escorted by Sir CHARLES H. MANN, Grand Eminent Commander of the Grand Encampment of Maryland. As soon as the audience were seated he directed the doors to be closed, when Most Worshipful J. H. B. LATROBE, Grand Master of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Maryland, rose and welcomed the visitors in an able and patriotic speech. Sir WM. SEWALL GARDNER, Grand Commander of the Grand Encampment of the United States, returned thanks in appropriate terms. The delegations then proceeded to their hall to open the session of the Grand Encampment. The procession was a display of the most brilliant and imposing character. The magnificent but chaste uniform of the Knights presented a grand spectacle. Thousands of spectators crowded the streets along the line of march. The entire city is dressed with Masonic banners and national flags.

The General Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons convened at the Masonic Temple, in secret session, today. An address was delivered by the presiding officer, and the usual business committees appointed. The election of officers takes place to-morrow.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Erie Railroad Litigations—Movements of the Kuklux Commission—International Conferences—Miscellaneous.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The Erie Railroad has a claim for rebatement of taxes before the Internal Revenue Department, and an argument was made before the Commissioner today by DUDLEY FIELD, not DAVID DUDLEY, as some have it. The case is this: The Company made a return of its earnings to the Revenue Office, and another return of the amount paid for road construction to the State Auditor of Pennsylvania. This last return was supposed by the Assessor to represent earnings, and as it was larger than the former return an assessment was laid upon the difference which, with the penalties, amounted to about $69,000. The Company makes the claim that this difference in the two returns represented money derived from the sale of bonds. The Commissioner has simply to decide upon the question of fact. If the Company prove, as seems likely, that its explanation is correct the abatement must be made.

KUKLUX MATTERS.

The full Kuklux Committee of the House and Senate meets here to-morrow. It is not probable that any further evidence will be taken in North or South Carolina, but most likely one or two subcommittees will be appointed to visit others of the Southern States and take testimony between now and the meeting of Congress. In the trial of Kukluxes at Raleigh, a case has come up where sixteen persons are to be tried on one indictment. The claim is set up that in selecting the jury each defendant has a right to the number of challenges provided by law in criminal trials in the United States Courts. The ruling of the Judge is expected to conform to the practice in other Courts heretofore, and allow only challenges by the defendants collectively.

CONFERENCES ON THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

The State Department today received official notice of the appointment of Count SCLOPIS by KING VICTOR EMMANUEL of Italy, as the Italian member of the Geneva Arbitration Board. The mixed Commission under the Treaty of Washington for the settlement of claims of British and American subjects, other than the Alabama claims, will meet in this city for organization next week, possibly Monday. The arrival of Commissioner GUERNEY is now daily expected. The Commission will first establish rules for the guidance of its procedure, which will doubtless be similar to the rules governing the Mexican and Spanish Commissions. The Geneva Conference will not probably begin till about the last of the days before the expiration of the six months fixed by the treaty.

PERSONAL.

Senator SCOTT and Representative SCOFIELD, of Pennsylvania, arrived here today. Senator SCOTT brings news of the quiet but favorable progress of the canvass. The election derives its chief importance from the fact that the Legislature to be elected will have to redistrict the State under the new apportionment of Representatives to Congress. The prospect of a Republican victory is as good as it was in Maine. Commissioner DOUGLASS will not resign to test his status under the Tenure-of-office law, but simply to make the appointment of a first deputy possible. He will not resign for some weeks yet, at least not till after the return of the President.

PAY-MASTER HODGE.

Appointment of a Court-Martial in His Case—Special Order from the Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The Secretary of War today issued the following order:

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, Sept. 18, 1871.

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 365.—A general Court-martial is hereby appointed to meet at Fort McHenry, Maryland, at 12 o'clock M., on the 26th day of September, 1871, or as soon thereafter as practical, for the trial of Pay-master JOHN LEDYARD HODGE, United States Army.

Detail for the Court: Major-Gen. George G. Meade; Col. Delos B. Sackett, Inspector-General; Col. Israel Vogdes, First Artillery; Col. N. W. Brown, Assistant Pay-master-General; Lieut.-Col. H. D. Wallen, Eighth Infantry; Lieut.-Col. Stewart Van Vliet, Deputy Quartermaster-General; Major John M. Brannan, First Artillery; Major E. G. Beckwith, First Artillery; Major Truman Seymour, of the Fifth Artillery; Capt. Henry M. Lazelle, of the Eighth Infantry; Capt. James McMillan, of the Third Artillery; Capt. E. V. Sumner, of the First Cavalry; Capt. John R. Edie, Jr., of the Ordnance Department. Col. W. McK. Dunn, Assistant Judge-Advocate-General, is appointed Judge-Advocate of the Court. In case of the absence of any of the members named in this order, the Court will nevertheless proceed with the business assigned it, provided the number be not less than the minimum prescribed by law.

By order of the Secretary of War.

E. D. TOWNSEND, Adjutant-General.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

Removal of His Remains to Oak Ridge Cemetery, Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 19.—The remains of the late President LINCOLN and his two deceased children were today removed from their temporary vault to a permanent one just completed for their reception in Oak Ridge Cemetery. There were no ceremonies at the removal. ROBERT S. LINCOLN, the only surviving child, was present; also, Senator TRUMBULL, Judge DAVID DAVIS, Judge TREAT, Gov. B. GRATZ BROWN, the Illinois State officers, and the officers of the Lincoln Monument Association, and many ladies.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis of Events and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—1 A. M.—The lowest pressure which was on Monday night north of Lake Erie, is now over Maine. The pressure has fallen very generally in the Gulf, and Atlantic States, but has risen from the Ohio Valley northward. Cloudy weather has generally prevailed on the lakes and Atlantic coast today; light rains on the South Atlantic and Gulf coasts. Clear weather is now reported from Minnesota southward. The temperature has risen in New-England, but fallen on the upper lakes. Increasing northerly winds have prevailed from Lake Michigan to Ontario; fresh south-westerly winds from Maine to Virginia.

PROBABILITIES.

Brisk north-easterly winds will probably back to the north-west, and abate by Wednesday noon on the lower lakes with clearing weather; clear weather with cool northerly winds extend over the South Atlantic States by Wednesday night; clearing weather, with north-westerly winds, in the Middle and Eastern States and the Mississippi Valley.

Criticisms on the Militia Review at Aldershot—Failure of the English Hop Crop—Non-interference of the British Government in the Corea Difficulties.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The newspapers generally praise the manœuvres of the troops and the militia at the Aldershot camp. American officers, however, who have been present, call attention to the total absence of provision trains. A naval Court-martial has been appointed to investigate the cause of the accident to Her Majesty's ship Racer, which was recently ashore off Ryde. The English hop crop has been gathered, and the yield is but a small one; say about one-third of the amount of the average crop. The Morning Advertiser of today contains an editorial imputing the blame for the war in Corea to the Americans. It says the result of the recent battle will be the driving of foreigners from the country. The Advertiser also says England will not join the United States, because she was not consulted before the expedition under Admiral RODGERS was sent into Corean waters. The foreign workmen are leaving Newcastle. The Magistrates there have dismissed numerous summonses brought by the masters against employes who left their work unfinished.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—Mr. JOHN DALY, the Mayor of Cork, has been presented with the Cross of the French Legion of Honor in recognition of the humanity shown by the municipality and people of that city in sending succor to the French wounded during the recent war. Six men have been convicted in one of the Irish Courts upon the charge of drilling illegally, and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

Secession in a Swiss Town—Bismarck in Berlin—Celebrations at the Completion of the Mont Cenis Tunnel—Ministerial Crisis in Austria.

BERNE, Sept. 19.—The Catholic Party of the town of Solothurn, Switzerland, has constituted itself a liberal municipality.

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Prince BISMARCK has returned from Salzburg to Berlin.

TURIN, Sept. 19.—The Municipality of Turin gave a banquet today in honor of the completion of the Mont Cenis Tunnel, at which the representatives of foreign Governments who took part in the ceremonies of the formal opening were present. The utmost cordiality was evidenced by all the guests, and the French Ambassador particularly was remarkably enthusiastic. Many speeches were made and a number of toasts drunk, the principal of which were, "Success to the Mont Cenis Tunnel" and "The memory of CAVOUR."

VIENNA, Sept. 19.—A ministerial crisis here is imminent. Baron LINGENAU has been appointed Ambassador Extraordinary to St. Petersburg.

BELGRADE, Sept. 19.—The session of the Legislative Chamber was opened today by Prince MILAN, who congratulated the Deputies on the prosperity of the Principality and the excellent condition of the army.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 19.—The strikers here have been successful.

INDIAN MATTERS.

Trouble in the Osage Reservation—Jacksboro, Texas, in Danger of an Indian Invasion.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 19.—The Fort Smith New Era, of the 13th, says some settlers living near the Osage reservation lost three horses, which they supposed had been taken by the Osage Indians. Twenty settlers started in pursuit and came across a party of Osages, who proposed to the whites to go to their camp, two miles distant, and search for the horses. The whites refused and proceeded to take three horses from the Indians, agreeing to return them if the stolen horses were returned. The Osages declined to consent to the arrangement, when the settlers attacked them and took three horses. A number on both sides were wounded, and one white man was killed. When the Osages returned to their camp, their Chief mounted eighty young warriors, and sent them in pursuit of the whites, overtaking and captured seven of them, and turning them over to the Deputy United States Marshal. The prisoners were taken to Fort Smith, charged with larceny and assault with intent to kill.

It is reported from Jacksboro, Jack County, Texas, that information has been received there, at military head-quarters, from Gen. OAKES, who is in command on the boundary between the Indian Nation and Kansas, that he recently had a fight with the Sioux and Cheyenne tribes; that he had driven them before him; that they were making their way South, evidently in the direction of Jack County, and that in consequence of this manœuvre Gen. McKINZIE had received instructions to relinquish his expedition into the Witchita country, and has been ordered to fall back upon Jacksboro. Jack County is on the extreme northern frontier of Texas.

GREAT FIRE IN VIRGINIA CITY.

The Business Portion of the Town Nearly All Destroyed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—A special dispatch says the greatest fire ever known in Virginia City broke out there today. It commenced on D-street, near WELLS, FARGO & CO.'S office. Everything in that quarter is burnt, except ROOT'S building and the Bank of California. All the brokers' offices on C-street are burned, on both sides, from DALEY & GOODMAN'S to the Tohoe House. WELLS, FARGO & CO.'S office was partially burned. The fire is now extinguished. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. It is impossible to obtain full particulars to-night.

The Political Dead Season—Mr. Gladstone's Characteristics—The Military Manœuvres—The New-York Frauds and Their Impression.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, Sept. 9, 1871.

This is the political dead season, and even the speeches of the Premier himself cannot make it anything but deadly-lively, which is much more ghastly and depressing than not being lively at all. He evidently primed himself for a great speech at Whitby, a secluded little watering-place on the Northumbrian coast, where he has been staying for the good of his health, but somehow it went wrong. He rammed in a big charge, and there was noise enough in the explosion, but somehow his shots came again in boomerang fashion, and when the search came for the wounded, it was found he had peppered himself, and very nastily too. He was in a furious rage against the London newspapers because they had been speaking their mind pretty freely about himself and his colleagues and their insufferable insolence and mismanagement. I have already remarked on the curious religious fervor of Mr. GLADSTONE'S politics. This is at once the source of his strength and of his weakness. He carries the people with him on a great many questions because of his absolute impassioned confidence in his side of the question. He is speaking not his own opinions, but inspiration from above; he is the prophet of the Lord, and to criticise or contest any of his arguments or proposals is to commit the unpardonable sin, to blaspheme against the Holy Ghost. It is with pity as much as anger that he regards his opponents. In his heart he is intensely sorry for them. He knows where they will go to for their wickedness, and how uncomfortable they will be when they get there, and he is angry that men should be such fools as to prepare such a fate for themselves. Mr. GLADSTONE never comprehends that there are two sides to a question, and more points of view than one. There is only the side he sees and the point of view he looks from. It is true that he is accused of facing both ways, and trying, by subtle tricks of language, to reconcile opposite views, but this does not involve any admission of the possible justice or even honesty of any view which does not coincide, even in the measurement of a hair's breadth, with his own. Gideon was not more convinced that he wielded the sword of the Lord than GLADSTONE that he is the mouth-piece of Heaven, (please note the address, and none other genuine,) and that he has a straight tip, as the sporting men say, on all occasions, from the very best authority. Hence his wrath against the London editors. The whole explanation of their attacks on his policy and management of affairs, was that they represented the carping criticism of the clubs, and the vexation of wealth and caste at the disturbance of old established privileges by the new Army bill. He contrasted the good, simple-minded provincial Press, which was always civil to him, with the impious vituperation of the metropolitan journalists, of course very much to the disadvantage of the latter. There is, no doubt, some truth in this discrepancy between public opinion in town and country. Mr. GLADSTONE'S popularity has always been far greater in the country than in Parliament. Indeed, it may be observed that the more closely people are brought into contact with him, the more repellent is the influence he exerts, as witness the keen personal dislike with which he is regarded by a large section of his own followers in the House of Commons, and his emphatic rejection by successive constituencies. He is now reduced to sit for Greenwich, but he is so ashamed of it that he has never gone near his constituents since they elected him, and they, on their part, are so disgusted with him that he will have to look out for fresh quarters at the next election. There is something personally irritating and ungenial about the Premier, which accounts for a good deal of his unpopularity, but the general dissatisfaction which now prevails goes much deeper, and is based on more important grounds. It is seen that he is gradually sidling toward democracy, as it is understood by his "own flesh and blood," the working men. He went out of his way to make believe that the lodging-house keepers of Whitby were working men, and addressed them as such, with fulsome adulation. He sees that he is losing his hold on the middle classes, and is preparing to fling in his lot with the democracy of the streets. This, coupled with his declaration that England needed no costly armaments if they would only give up dabbling in foreign policy, is a poor consolation to the middle classes, who have just been subjected to an increase of income tax for additions to the army and navy—a tax which the working men escape.

THE MILITARY MANŒUVRES.

The great event of the week has been the commencement of the military manœuvres after the Prussian fashion. By the end of last week some 35,000 troops were collected at Aldershot and on Monday some 20,000 of them, just to feel their legs and try their wind, marched to Sandhurst and back—some sixteen miles in all—carrying their tents and baggage with them, encamping and dining and going through some exercises at Sandhurst, and then marching home again. It was a miserably wet day, the roads were heavy, and the men had a very hard day of it. But they came out of it very well. Some of the militia regiments were rather stiff in the legs next day and blistered in the feet, but on the whole the march proved that the troops were up to the mark. At daybreak on Thursday two of the three divisions comprised in the corps d'armée, as it is called, started from Aldershot to take the field in earnest, as if in real campaign. The Second Division, under Gen. CAREY, went some eight miles north to Eversley Common, while the other went six or seven miles south to Frensham Common. Here it encamped for the night, going on to Woolner Forest, five miles further on, this morning. Both divisions marched very well at the rate of about a mile in three-quarters of an hour, which, considering the up-and-down nature of the roads, was very fair work. The country round Aldershot is a region of sand and heather. You pass from one broad purple moor, laced here and there with golden gorse, to another, with a series of shaggy, pine-covered ridges, bounding or separating them. South of Aldershot, Farnham (the home of ferns which grow here in great luxurance,) flashes red in the midst of its acres of hop gardens. But the rest of the district is chiefly moorland and fir coppice—just the place for military movements. Inclosures and improvements have commenced, however, and it is probable that before another decade has passed, a large proportion of these broad, breezy commons will have become matter of history, and will be found only on the old maps. Already this is what has happened to Woolner Forest. It is still called a forest, but has lost its trees and is cut up into meadows and fields for the most part. WHITE, of Selborne, the well-known clerical naturalist, lived near here, and one has only to compare his pictures of the open wildness of the country as it was in his day with its present state of cultivation, in order to see the change which has taken place. As yet the troops have kept to the roads, but, of course, when manœuvres begin they will spread themselves over the country, making light of hedges and ditches, and spreading themselves over fields and moorland alike. For any damage that may thus be done, compensation will be paid by the Government, and claims will be allowed to stand over till next year. Although, as I said, the divisions had as yet kept to the roads, they have not always been able to keep to the main highway, and in some of the side road they have cut up the ground a good deal, and not a few of the baggage wagons stuck in the soft, yielding sand. If the weather had been bad yesterday forenoon, matters would have been worse, but even as it was, on their first day out, the troops had, in some parts, to set to work to make a roadway with branches and heaps of ferns. The distances being so easy it would have been strange if the men had been distressed after their march. They all stood it very well, as they did also last night's soaking rain, when under canvas. Only small bell tents are allowed to be carried, although an exception has been made in the case of the Prince of WALES, who has three marquees, one for himself, one for his staff and one for entertaining company. His brother, Prince ARTHUR, has only the ordinary tent, which he shares with a subaltern of his regiment, the usual number of tenants being, however, three, not two. There is some talk of the First Division, now at Aldershot, being sent out for a night or two, without tents, to bivouac on the bare ground, in the German style, and see how they like it. There have been no more stampedes of horses on a large scale, though they are continually breaking loose one or two at a time. An order has been issued to picket them in the Indian fashion—the head tethered to a continuous rope pegged to the ground, and one hind leg tethered to a peg behind. But I saw some regiments of cavalry using the old system of heel pegs without any head rope. The great thing to keep the horses quiet is, however, not so much the way they are tethered as a close watch over the horses, to check any uneasiness that may arise among them. The grand manœuvres will not commence till next Thursday, when engagements will take place between the rival divisions. One General will be pitted against another, and the Duke of CAMBRIDGE and a staff of umpires will determine who is the conqueror.

THE NEW-YORK FRAUDS.

The exposures of the NEW-YORK TIMES in regard to the financial frauds in your municipality have made a great sensation over here, and your courage and public-spirited pertinacity in following up the matter have elicited general admiration. It is in the discharge of such patriotic duties that the Press discharges its highest functions. I may mention that your namesake, the London Times, was instrumental in bringing to light a series of extensive commercial frauds, which led to legal proceedings being taken against it. The alleged conspiracy was an attempt to defraud GLYN and other bankers by means of forged letters of credit. The conspirators got possession of one of GLYN'S letters of credit and produced an engraving of it so perfect that when one of the forgeries was shown to one of the partners he was for a time unable to distinguish it from a real one. In a few days they obtained £10,000 on these forged letters in Brussels, Cologne, Turin, Vienna, Florence and elsewhere. A rule of evidence shut out some private letters between the parties which were produced at the trial, and the jury felt obliged to return a verdict for the plaintiff, with ¼d. damages. But though the verdict was technically against the Times it was really in their favor, and the mercantile community were so sensible of the service it had rendered, that they subscribed for the expenses of the suit. The money, however, was applied to founding Times scholarships and erecting memorial tablets in the Royal Exchange and over the door of the Times office relating the circumstances of the case. Opinion here seems to be that you have fairly earned your tablets, too.

THE NEW REPUBLIC.

Honors to Mr. Seward—A Calm in Politics—M. Thiers' Willfulness—The Trial of the Commune—Volunteer Ambulances.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Tuesday, Sept. 5, 1871.

The arrival of Mr. SEWARD at Paris, after his voyage in the East, was quite an event for our American colony. Even before he had left the Austrian Lloyd's steamer which brought him from the capital of the Ottoman Empire—where he was allowed every privilege accorded to Princes—preparations were being made to entrap him, and many dinner places were formed in his honor. On Thursday he dined with President THIERS, and the Gaulois gives the following version of the affair: "During the evening toasts were naturally proposed, and Mr. SEWARD drank the health of President THIERS. The latter, who knows everything, does not know English. Mme. THIERS, Mlle. DOSNE, and the other members of the governing family, were in the same fix. All tried to understand the gestures of the illustrious man of the grande Republique, to use an expression (literally "a trick of language") now in fashion, but the effort was in vain. M. THIERS made a few remarks in response, which were so meaningless that the hearers laughed." That is a specimen of Paris journalism. The Gaulois had no idea who Mr. SEWARD was, or what he had done. France is the only country in the world, I venture to say, where he is not known, for not a single Paris journal announced his arrival. This, however, is nothing to the disadvantage of the distinguished statesman. On Saturday evening Mr. SEWARD attended a reception given by BOWLES BROS., bankers, where I had the pleasure of being introduced to him by Gen. BANKS, now in Paris with his family. I mention this circumstance to recall a remark made by the General: "Mr. SEWARD is a man," said he, "who, during his entire term of office, under the greatest trials and most difficult circumstances, gave offense to no man who was honestly trying to serve his country." Minister WASHBURNE, who has just returned from Carlsbad, was present, also Consul-General READ, Mr. CISCO, Mr. BIGELOW, Mr. WILKES, and a large number of New-Yorkers. Mr. SEWARD has already taken his dinner at the Embassy, and he has an invitation on hand for each of the remaining six days that he will remain in Paris.

A CALM IN POLITICS.

For the past few days, or since the extension of the powers of M. THIERS, and the quasi acknowledgment of the Republic, there has been a calm in political affairs. Not a single tempest has been raised in the Chamber, and the reports of the short sessions which have been held barely occupy two columns in the journals. The Assembly is trying to clear away some necessary work in order to take a recess, which it has fairly earned. Yet despite the comparative calm, one can see that the various parties are ill at ease, and that the present truce cannot be of long duration. The Republicans are not at all satisfied with the work which has been done. After keeping up a continual attack upon the majority, and after trying by every honest and dishonest means to make the Assembly declare the Republic—an act which could not be done except by a Constituent Assembly—after trying to force it into constituent measures in its favor, the Left is terribly outraged because the Assembly has declared itself constituent and really competent to deal with these questions. If any one can find an excuse for such conduct, I should like to hear it, for it seems to me the heighth of absurdity to say that the Chamber is constituent enough to declare the Republic, and not constituent to declare a monarchy, or that it is constituent to vote Republican measures and not to oppose them. GAMBETTA made an open threat that the Assembly would soon be swept away if it would not resign of its own accord. Defeated in the Chamber, and overpowered by the majority, the members of the Left had an idea of resigning in a body, but that was given up because a large number of them were not sure of a re-election. Now they are turning their attention to keeping up the agitation in the country. On the reassembling of the Chamber they will lose no opportunity for trying to bring about a dissolution.

M. THIERS' WILLFULNESS.

Yesterday the majority was thrown into a state of emotion difficult to describe by the appearance of M. THIERS, who came in as usual and took his seat upon the Ministerial bench. According to the ceremonial rule in the Rivet-Vitet proposition, which became a law, the President cannot assist at the debates without having notified the Chamber of his intention, and his special reasons for so doing, by a special message. Utterly regardless of this law, which has been promulgated in the Officiel and by Government placards, M. THIERS came in as usual, and, not only that, but he took his seat upon the bench assigned to his Ministers. There is a great deal of speculation as to the meaning of this step, and preparations are made for reminding the President of the respect due to the law on the part of a Chief Magistrate, if the act is repeated. The general impression is that it was to show the Assembly that the President meant to have his own way, and a good story is told of his willfulness in former times. Count JAUBERT relates the tale as he had it from the lips of LOUIS PHILIPPE.

"I can do nothing," said the King, "for he always finds some way of thrusting himself into my place. I say to him: M. THIERS, I wish a separate bed; here are two, make a choice; I will take the other, and let it be understood. Très bien; voila qui est réglé. I flatter myself that I am to be easy at last. I undress and — I see this little devil in the bed which he had set apart for me."

Upon this story the Univers remarks that M. THIERS is always the same, only he has grown worse. He wishes to sleep at the same time in all of the beds, and make everybody sleep at his feet.

THE TRIAL OF THE COMMUNE.

The decision of the third Court-martial at Versailles has surprised every one, not only on account of its lenity, but for the singularity of its judgment. As a general thing, however, I am satisfied that the judgment was the best which could have been made, but there are yet some inconsistencies in it in the opinion of most reflecting men. It is difficult to understand why COURBET is condemned to even so light a punishment, when M. RANC is allowed to go free, and when PASENT, the bosom friend of M. RANC, is acquitted. It seems also that COURBET has not escaped so lightly after all, for it will be remarked that the prisoners are made solidaire for the costs of the trials, and as COURBET is the only man who has money, it will take all that he has in the world, and probably force the sale of his paintings. Among the members of the Commune, GUSTAVE TRIDON, who has just died in Belgium, was the richest. He had an annual income of some 75,000 francs. Next to him came M. RANC, and in this circumstance many see the reason of the escape of these two men. When the troops entered Paris, TRIDON was too ill to sit up, and hardly in condition to escape to Belgium, without the connivance of the officials. COURBET has a moderate fortune, and the rest were penniless or worse. In reviewing the testimony as given in the newspapers, which is all that the Court had before it, I can find nothing to show why LULLIER should have been condemned to death. It is generally presumed to be due to the fact that he was an officer of the navy, but the Register shows that he was dismissed the service long ago. No one believes, however, that he will be executed. FERRE, the other accused condemned to death, is clearly a monster, and the only one against whom there was any evidence concerning the shooting of the hostages. I said above that the Court reviewed the testimony from the newspaper reports. This is a singular fact, and one which would give trouble to any but a military court. No records of the evidence are kept. Col. MERLIN has shown great firmness, tact and cleverness throughout the trial, as well as great kindness of heart and genuine benevolence. Prosecutor GAVEAU had a very difficult task, and I fear that he performed it but indifferently. He has too much passion for such an office. But he is a young officer and much allowance must be made for him. He read all of his pleas from manuscript, and made no extempore speeches. One day a comrade took his place, and in a single session spoke so well, and showed so much good temper, that all regretted he was not to continue. As a general thing the French, like Americans, are excellent off-hand speakers. M. GAVEAU is to be made a Lieutenant-Colonel for his services. It may be of interest to know the difference between the judgment of the mass of these accused—that is, between deportation simple and dans une enceinte fortifiée. In the former case the prisoners are sent to a penal colony, where they are allowed to go about their business at will, only reporting at head-quarters at stated times; in the second they are kept continually under guard in some intrenched camp or fortified place. The Fourth Council is now trying a batch of pétroleuses, and during the present week CAVALIER, dit pipe-en-bois, and perhaps ROCHEFORT, will come up for trial.

SPECULATORS IN HAIR.

Speaking of the pétroleuses, I am reminded of a scandal which will do to record with others which you have exposed. It is a known fact that all women who are condemned by the Magistrates for any kind of misdemeanor for a period of one or two months, are submitted to a mutilation which is a punishment to them a hundred times greater than the imprisonment. The first act of the director of the prison is to cut off the hair of such prisoners, and it has just come to light that ever since the 4th of September last the prison directors have been trafficking in hair thus obtained. I do not hear that one of these wretches has been punished, but the feeling was so strong when the fact was made public that M. DUFAURE ordered that all women condemned for less than five years should preserve their hair, and as for that of others it must be burned in their presence.

A PRESS PROSECUTION.

On the 18th inst. the journal La Verité, the property of M. EDOUARD PORTALIS, (married to a young lady of fortune from California,) gave some very strong comments upon the act of the Assembly in declaring itself constituent, and remarked that the people must now make a strong and telling demonstration against it. Such language, according to the Parisians, has but one meaning, and being still in a state of siege, it came under the law against exciting the people to demonstrations against the Government. Gen. LADMIRAULT suppressed the journal until further orders, and the other papers made but a feeble protest, if they did not actually applaud the order. But it seems that the publishers of the Verité were equal to the occasion. As if under the suspicion of a mishap of this kind, they had procured from Marshal MCMAHON, two months ago, permission in writing to publish a journal called The Constitution. This order is published at the head of the paper, which appears today—the Verité from beginning to end with the exception of the name.

VOLUNTEER AMBULANCES.

In one of my letters during the siege I remarked upon the troubles of the "International Society for the Aid of the Wounded," or the Society of Geneva, and predicted that it would soon get itself suppressed. I know by experience that it is a bad thing for a regiment (and I presume for an army as well) to have these volunteer ambulance men hanging about it, and circumstances arise every day where an officer is forced to make great sacrifices in order to treat them with all the respect they claim for their self-devotion and sainted mission. Now that is all humbug. Volunteers or International Society men have no business whatever at the front, for they are there only out of curiosity, and take good care to keep behind a tree. That is the worst possible example to the soldiers. Of course I do not mean to say there are not some brave men, but I am speaking generally. And admitting that they are brave, what good does that do? The regular details take the wounded back on the stretchers, and there they should be received by a regular ambulance corps in uniform, under army orders. The proper place for these volunteers is in the temporary hospitals at the rear, and on no account should they be allowed to roam about the battle-fields with their red-cross flags, to run in the way of danger and then write indignant letters to the newspapers about the inhumanity of firing on the sacred flag. Oftentimes it cannot be helped. Had the war lasted a little longer this International Society would have been repudiated, as I see it is about to be now by the Germans. An organization like the Sanitary Commission can do a vast amount of good, but there is a great difference between that and allowing a crowd of young men to run about the battle-field and to make a holiday amusement of a campaign. Hereafter the members of the Geneva Society will have to enter the service regularly, and we may be sure that there will be less enthusiasm in its service.

THE PENSION-ROLL.

The Government proposes to grant a pension of four thousand francs to the widow of GUSTAVE CHAUDEY, editor of the Siècle, shot by the insurgents, and six hundred francs to the widows of the gendarmes who were assassinated. The latter did their duty like brave men, and really served the country, while CHAUDEY was a Communist, who proposed to "cook the Versailais in their own juice."

ASHBY.

THE LATE COMMUNE.

The Death Sentence of Rossel.

Col. ROSSEL was tried at Versailles on Sept. 8 by the third Court-martial, reconstituted in consequence of his rank of Captain in the regular army, by substituting a Lieutenant-Colonel and two Majors for two Lieutenants and an Adjutant. ROSSEL is a handsome, prepossessing man of twenty-nine years of age, very pale, evidently dejected, but firm and self-possessed. His demeanor was unexceptionable. In answer to questions, he said that on the 19th of March he held command at the Nevers camp. When he heard of the revolution in Paris he wrote to the War Minister that France being split in two camps, he must side with the one which had not capitulated. He had always been of opinion that France ought to have carried on the war, and could have succeeded. He believed the terms of peace ruinous for France. He had no other reason for joining the Commune than the hope that the insurrection would lead to a renewal of the war with Prussia. No witnesses were called for the prosecution, but Gen. CLINCHANT, and a long line of superior officers in uniform, deposed that ROSSEL was an excellent officer, active, energetic, laborious, and of extraordinary intelligence. Many confirmed his system of defense, namely, his thorough belief that the continuance of the war would be the salvation of France. M. JOLY, a young Versailles advocate, made a most able argument to show that the most serious charge—namely, desertion to the enemy, did not apply to the fact of desertion to armed rebels, and was not punishable with death. ROSSEL, upon being asked what he wished to add to his defense, said: "I was born in the army, and passed my life in it. I felt a bitter pang when I left it, and the most painful part of my present position is to be tried by military men." The Court unanimously found ROSSEL guilty on all the counts, and sentenced him to death. M. JOLY at once objected to the legality of the verdict, on the ground that the Court had propounded a subsidiary question without previous notice. The rumor ran in Court that there was a good case for an appeal.

SWITZERLAND.

The Projected Meeting of Prince Gortschakoff and M. Thiers.

"Considerable sensation," says the Swiss Times, "has been caused in this country by the projected interview between M. THIERS and Prince GORTSCHAKOFF, at the Hotel Beau-Rivage, near Lausanne. What gives an appearance of truth to this assertion is, that the Russian diplomatist has been for many years in the habit of spending several weeks in the Autumn on the shores of Lake Leman. It is to enjoy the shade of the splendid park of the Beau-Rivage, within sight of the blue waters of the lake on whose tranquil surface is reflected the snow-clad mountains of Savoy, that Prince GORTSCHAKOFF comes each year for a few weeks to Switzerland. It cannot be called solitude, for those who are acquainted with the Beau-Rivage know that its garden walks are continually thronged by a crowd composed of members of every European nation. The presence of two such famous statesmen will doubtless attract many others, and the Beau-Rivage will, for several days, resemble Gastein. Count KISSELEFF, who, after the election of Prince LOUIS NAPOLEON to the Presidency, was raised to the rank of Minister Plenipotentiary of Russia at Paris, and who was later accredited in that quality to the Cabinet of the Tuileries, until the breaking out of the Crimean war, has lately taken possession of the apartments which he occupies each year at the Beau-Rivage. His secretary seems to be very busy, and he, as well as Count KISSELEFF, show by their conversation their great sympathy with France. Is it probable that they will seize the occasion to proffer their services to the Government at Versailles! If M. THIERS comes to Switzerland he will have no cause to complain of his reception, for it is impossible for the President of the French Republic to cross the Swiss frontier without becoming aware of the deep and sincere sympathy which the Swiss entertain for the misfortunes with which their French neighbors have been so recently visited.

A FRENCH SCANDAL.

The Jules Favre Libel Case—Speech of the Ex-Minister.

Paris (Sept. 7) Correspondence of the London Echo.

If any illustration were wanting of the contemptible baseness and utter profligacy of the sensational demi-monde Press of Paris, it may be found in the disclosures elicited yesterday before the Assizes of the Seine, in the action for defamation brought by M. JULES FAVRE against a disgraced barrister and the editors and printers of the Vérité and Avenir Liberal. Probably in no other civilized country in the world would there be found men to pen such utterly depraved and scurrilous personalities, nor men to print them with the object of public circulation. Monsieur JULES FAVRE, has, however, been for a considerable time the object of envenomed attack by every journal in Paris. His reputation as a diplomatist was as short-lived as that which any other loyal-minded well-wisher of his country could expect it to be at the hands of an ungrateful, disappointed, self-conceited people, who, baby-like, lay all their self-accumulated misfortunes to the charge of treason—down from the Emperor NAPOLEON, BAZAINE and TROCHU, to the merest understrapper in the Administration. M. JULES FAVRE does not, however, complain so much of criticism, however bitter and unmerited, in his public capacity, as of unworthy attack on his private life. His story shall be told in his own words. M. JULES FAVRE was publicly accused by M. LALUYE, in the Vérité and the Avenir Liberal, of causing the arrest of the latter in consequence of his relations with the Commune, the object simply being to revenge himself upon M. LALUYE for his attempt to drag M. JULES FAVRE'S irregularities in private life before the world—irregularities which French society, from the highest to the lowest grades, has long learned to wink at.

M. FAVRE'S ADDRESS.

"The first declaration I have to make," said the late Minister of Foreign Affairs, "is that I am a complete stranger to the arrest of M. LALUYE, or the perquisition made at his apartment. I was only made aware of these occurrences a considerable time after they had taken place. Thus, when I saw it stated in the Avenir Liberal that a Minister, in order to satisfy a feeling of private animosity, had caused the arrest of a citizen, I found it impossible to remain silent. In my public capacity I have been frequently enough the object of outrages and defamation; but I treated such attacks with silent contempt. * * * * The man before you I had intrusted with all my secrets. He knew them in a professional sense; and profiting by the confidence I placed in him during our intimacy, he has employed his knowledge of my private affairs by endeavoring to dishonor me. I am exceedingly pained and afflicted—not on my account, but on account of those objects of my tenderness whom I have heard calumniated by the man who had for so long a time given them testimony of his affection. It is true, indeed; more than thirty years ago, I was young, and very intimate with a lady who was separated from her husband; I loved her passionately. * * * For twenty years I lived with her in the strictest privacy; our position was a distressing one, and I suffered greatly. The one I have lost suffered still more than I did. My house was closed to society, notwithstanding I was already a practising barrister, and gained the esteem and affection of many friends.* * * I thank God that He has called to Himself the woman for whom such infamies were reserved, and with which this man has undertaken to insult her memory. We lived together in this manner, letting a small house in the country, perfectly isolated—during the Summer—with the children I loved so much, and to whom she was equally attached. A child was born to me. My poor friend, when I first knew her, had already one of her own, who was brought up with her grandfather. I did not think it advisable to separate her from her mother, I educated and reared her; and when she was married, M. LALUYE was perfectly right in saying, "I called her my daughter;" it is true. A second child was born to me, whom I recognized; then a third. All these incidents are detailed in the letter of which M. LALUYE has just spoken, and which he digested minutely in order to calumniate me. Let him read this letter throughout; let him produce it; and you will see, gentlemen of the jury, that he has betrayed everything—that he knew all my secrets, and that he has basely violated them. * * * We lived at Reuil, respected, honored; especially the woman I loved so much, never tired in her good and benevolent work. I confess here that I was guilty; I presented my child to the civil authority with the indication of its paternity. That child, ten years of age, accompanied me, much against my will. * * * M. ODIOT came to my house for the first time in 1851. He always testified the greatest friendship for us. In 1858 M. ODIOT was taken ill. M. LALUYE would almost appear to charge me with having poisoned him. He died under my care, and I closed his eyes. My surprise was extreme when I found that he had made my three children, and BERTHA, the daughter of my friend, his universal legatees. As soon as I was made aware of the fact, I hastened to M. CHARLES ODIOT, and desired that a portion of the fortune of M. ODIOT should revert to his own family, and he thanked me. It was then I went to M. LALUYE. I knew him at the Court; afterward I met him at Eaux-Bonnes, and in 1852 he lived at Bougival. Like the rest of my friends, he knew that I was not married. I had always refused to make use of those endearing words, "My wife." By degrees I became intimate with him, and he interested himself in the purchase of my property. From 1852 to 1864 he was my most tender and devoted friend. * * * It has been stated that I became rich after the death of M. ODIOT, and that my possession of a carriage dated from this epoch; M. LALUYE knows that such is not the case. I had a carriage in 1852. What does this legally prove? Fifty thousand francs for each child. Those 50,000 francs I gave to BERTHA on her marriage, adding to it what I considered necessary on my own part. There remains the sum of 100,000 francs, which appertains to my two other children. But M. LALUYE, nevertheless, represents me as a millionnaire, thus denouncing me to the demagogues. What separated us was a law case between M. LALUYE and M. PERRIN, his successor. He wished me to declare M. PERRIN to be a dishonest man. I did not believe such to be the case, and I declined. Hence the irritation. * * * M. LALUYE was arrested. I never pronounced his name. Now that the organs of Bonapartism and the Commune are united together in their efforts to drag me through the mire, I have determined to appeal to you for justice."

THE VERDICT AND SENTENCE.

The trial, which occupied the whole of yesterday, was continued throughout the night, and it was not until 3 o'clock this morning that the jury rendered its verdict, condemning LALUYE to a year's imprisonment and 1,000 francs fine; and the editors, CHARVET DE LEONI and ERNEST HUGUET, of the Avenir Liberal, and PORTALIS, of the Vérité, each to one month's imprisonment and 100 francs fine. A few courageous men like the calumniated JULES FAVRE might work a highly-desirable reformation in the depraved newspaper era in which we have been long living here.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Iowa State Fair, last week, added $25,000 to the funds of the Society.

Archbishop SPAULDING, of Maryland, is lying very ill at his residence in Baltimore.

President GRANT is expected to be present at the laying of the corner-stone of the new Post-office in Boston, in October.

Marriage licenses in Maryland bear the State seal, with the State motto—"Crescite et multiplicamini."

A bouquet made of grasshoppers strung on wires took a premium at a county fair in Massachusetts last week. Where is the Society for the prevention of cruelty?

The Roman Catholic priests of Boston have united in a petition to the Aldermen that the streets in the vicinity of all the churches of the city be paved with wood.

An Ohio paper asserts that Mr. PERRY CULBERTSON died in Zanesville, on Saturday last, "from the effects of over-exertion at a fire in that place in 1844."

The State Police of Massachusetts estimate that prohibited liquor is illegally sold at 3,500 places in that State, 1,500 of these being located in Boston. Every lawless dealer is to be notified to stop at once.

The Boston School Committee has refused to prohibit corporal punishment in the schools of that city. The best teachers are said to testify that it is not often necessary, and that the right to inflict it is very seldom abused.

Mr. WILL M. CARLETON is to become a member of the editorial staff of the Detroit Advertiser and Tribune, on the 1st of January next. He will contribute regularly to the daily edition and will be the supervising editor of the weekly.

Police Officer W. DOMM, of New-Orleans, died on the 12th inst. of hydrophobia. He was bitten by a dog three weeks previously while on duty, but thought little of it. He was attacked with the disease in the Court-room on Monday morning, and died in a few hours.

JAMES W. MARSHALL, the discoverer of gold in California, is on his way East to tell what he knows about mining. The San Francisco Bulletin says he is an honest, simple-hearted old man, who tells the story of his adventurous life with an earnestness and truthfulness that compel belief and excite sympathy.

Hon. MILLARD FILLMORE has declined an invitation to deliver the annual address before the Planters', Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Association of Mississippi, at its Fair in Jackson on the 23d of October, saying he never attempted anything in that line, and is now too old to commence. Hon. GEORGE H. PENDLETON, too, has declined to deliver it, but says he will try to attend the Fair.

A North Carolina paper asserts that an entire family of four persons, named MORRIS, died under suspicious circumstances in Duplin County, that State, between the 7th and 13th inst., and that it was strongly suspected that they were poisoned. But it says the father was seventy-three years old, and one of his children was an infant daughter, aged eight months.

The Confederate Powder-works, near Atlanta, Ga., have recently been sold. Most of the powder used by the rebels in the war was manufactured there, and the Constitutionalist says there was only one explosion during the whole time, which was in the granulating mill, situated some distance from the others, and it was thought, at the time, that that was caused by a match introduced into the powder by a negro before it was carried into the mill.

A New-Jersey paper asserts that the father of a lad belonging to Whippany has received the message given below, which the lad forwarded by carrier-pigeon from his vessel, the home of the bird being at Montclair. The Trenton Gazette says a calculation of the time showed that the bird averaged over 180 miles an hour:

DEAR FATHER: Sept. 10, 1871, lat. 32° 2 N., lon. 74° 17 W., 600 statute miles from Montclair, N. J. —I will let the young female bird Tempest go with this note at exactly 10 o'clock A. M., N. Y. time. She is good for 200 miles an hour. All well.

HARRY C. BLEECKER.

Of Hon. WILLIAM M. MEREDITH, of Philadelphia, one of the counsel of the United States before the Geneva arbitration, the Philadelphia North American thus speaks: "Mr. MEREDITH was Attorney-General of Pennsylvania for six years, under Gov. CURTIN. He was Secretary of the Treasury under President TAYLOR, and has filled other responsible positions. And his conduct in every situation has approved the soundness of his judgment and the great scope of his erudition. There is not probably another gentleman in the Commonwealth better competent to deal with those points of international law that are sole and prime in this Commission." Mr. MEREDITH and Gen. CALEB CUSHING have both accepted their appointment.

The Connolly Tragedy—The Widow of the Doctor Sent to a Lunatic Asylum.

Mrs. JULIA CONNOLLY, the widow of Dr. J. J. CONNOLLY, of West Eleventh-street, near Sixth-avenue, who, some months ago, murdered his two infant children and then committed suicide, was yesterday committed to the Lunatic Asylum, by Justice DOWLING, on the application of Dr. WILLARD PARKER. Since the tragic death of her husband and children, Mrs. CONNOLLY had frequently exhibited symptoms of insanity, and last week while attending service at a Catholic Church in Montreal, was seized with a paroxysm of insanity, and since that time has been a dangerous lunatic. She was brought to this City by her friends, and was taken to the Bloomingdale Asylum yesterday afternoon.

The Jones' Wood Murder—William Hyer Still in Custody.

WM. HYER, the young man who was arrested some days ago, on suspicion of having been concerned in the murder of DAVID DORIAN, during the Caledonian picnic at Jones' Wood, on the 7th inst., is still held at the East Fifty-ninth-street Police Station, to await further developments. Yesterday his mother, who lives at the corner of Seventy-sixth-street and Avenue A, called at the Coroner's office and endeavored, unsuccessfully, to procure the release of her son. Coroner YOUNG has not yet appointed a day for the inquest, and HYER will be detained until a thorough investigation is made.

Capture of an Alleged Bank Thief.

Capt. McDERMOTT, of the Eighth Precinct, yesterday arrested a ruffian named THOMAS TAYLOR, alias Cully, well known to the Police, on a charge of felonious assault and battery. The prisoner was subsequently recognized as the man for whom Detectives FARLEY and SIMINGTON have been searching for some time past, believing him to be one of those who, several months ago, entered the Central Park Savings Bank, No. 724 Third-avenue, about midday, knocked down, gagged and bound ANTHONY ELLIS, the cashier, a helpless old man, and then proceeded to rob the place. JOSEPH MURRAY, one of the gang, was arrested some time afterward, convicted and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment at Sing Sing. The prisoner, TAYLOR, was taken to Police Head-quarters and locked up to await identification by the cashier of the bank. Later in the day Mr. ELLIS and others who saw the thieves called at Head-quarters, but failed to identify the prisoner, who is held, however, to await further developments.

NOTES FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Herald and the Ring.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The laboring and floundering of the Herald would be amusing if it were not disgusting. It has shown its sympathy with the scoundrels of the Ring by attempts to ridicule, and thus belittle the Examining Committee and its labors. In a labored article today it professes to "care about nothing but to get at the truth," after having for weeks tried to ignore and set aside the truths which the TIMES has been daily industriously and ably setting before the public. Bah! such stuff as the Herald tries now to foist upon the people is too transparent, emanating as it does from the apologist and advocate of the corrupt thieves who have robbed us, and the daily go-between of the abortionist murderers that infest society.

I am a Democrat of thirty years since attaining my majority, but for three years past I have not voted, because I could not do any act that tended to confirm the rule of the scoundrels who were our political masters. Hereafter I shall vote, but it will be irrespective of party, and for those men who I shall believe will honestly administer the public trusts confided to them.

Forever honored be the TIMES for the noble work it has done in exposing and bringing to book the corruptionists who have preyed upon us.

CITIZEN.

NEW-YORK, Monday, Sept. 18, 1871.

Restitution!

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

All good citizens may now congratulate themselves, for the corrupt combination so generally known as the Tammany Ring, begins to dissolve. The exposures instituted and persistently continued by the TIMES, have brought to the surface sentiments of honest indignation, and the public means, which have heretofore been dishonestly expended and used to corrupt the moral sentiments of unsettled characters, as now limited will deprive PETER B. SWEENY, the chief contriver in rascalities, of one material substance which has heretofore served them, and aided in promoting the state of affairs which has now, apparently, culminated. Now measures ought to be taken to recover, for restoration to the City, fully, so far as possible, the wealth acquired by dishonest guardians, that the rogue's consolation, found in the enjoyment of the productions of his trickery, may not be left to them. Thereafter they will remain but a warning example.

NEW-YORK, Tuesday, Sept. 19, 1871. H. K.

A Tax-Payer's Grievance.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Excuse me for troubling you while you have the Ring on your hands, but your paper appears to be the only medium through which oppressed citizens can make their grievances known. Some time in the month of June last, I, with the residents generally of the block in West Thirty-eighth-street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, received a notice from the Board of Health to have our sidewalks relaid within three days or they would be relaid by said Board at our expense. Now, you know we have a wholesome dread of work done for us by the City officials, so a few of us had the work done immediately. Others, whose sidewalks were in far worse condition than ours, have paid no attention to the order, and there they remain still. Now, whether they have any influence with the Ring I cannot say, nor have I inquired into their political affinities; but it does appear to us law-obeying citizens that this way of managing matters is not exactly just and right. Are those only to obey the laws who are willing to do so, while those who are not willing can escape?

AN OLD TAX-PAYER.

NEW-YORK, Monday, Sept. 18, 1871.

A Husband Charged with Extraordinary Cruelty to His Wife.

In the case of MARIA F. NOONEY against ROBERT B. NOONEY, for limited divorce, on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment, a motion was made yesterday, before Chief-Justice DALY, in the Court of Common Pleas, for an order fixing an allowance of counsel fee and alimony in favor of plaintiff, pending the issue of the suit. Mrs. NOONEY charges her husband with no less than twenty-six distinct acts of cruelty since their marriage in 1854, besides a general system of bad treatment. Among the acts of cruelty named as having taken place during that period were beatings, kickings, bitings and pushings on various occasions; throwing water on her, pursuing her with a carving-knife, stabbing her with a pen-knife, hitting her with a beef-steak, tearing chickens to pieces and throwing the parts at her, tearing her clothes, dragging her by the hair on the floor, beating the children unnecessarily and cruelly, leaving her for three weeks in the cellar of their house, which had been burned down, and finally separating from her.

The Court sent the case to MURRAY HOFFMAN, as referee, to determine the amount of defendant's income, and give his opinion as to what would be a fair allowance for alimony and counsel fee therefrom.

Seizure of 11.000 Union Torpedoes.

Engineer MONROE, of the Fire Department, while engaged yesterday in making investigations in his district, discovered five cases containing 11,000 Union torpedoes in the store of ABRAHAM GOLDSCHMIDT, dealer in fire-works, at No. 358 Pearl-street. The torpedoes were confiscated and removed to Firemen's Hall. They were afterward emptied in the North River. GOLDSCHMIDT is a brother of the junior member of the firm of KLUEBER & GOLDSCHMIDT, who was fatally injured by the explosion in Beekman-street. An action will be commenced against ABRAHAM GOLDSCHMIDT for his violation of the law in offering these explosive materials for sale.

Stabbing Affray in a Tenement-House.

JOHN HEID, aged forty years, had an altercation, yesterday, in the tenement-house No. 453 Tenth-avenue, with FREDERICK O'SEE, aged fifteen years, and slapped the boy in the face. The latter had a cigar-maker's knife in his hand, and he stabbed HEID in the left eye with it, destroying the sight and causing a dangerous wound. HEID was taken to Bellevue Hospital. The boy was locked up in the West Thirty-seventh-street Police Station.

Sale of Property for Unpaid Assessments.

The sale of property for unpaid assessments was continued yesterday. About 1,100 lots have been disposed of; and about 300 remain to be sold. The entire amount realized from the sale will be about $150,000.

LAW REPORTS.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Before Presiding Judge Church and a Full Bench.

IMPORTANT DECISION RELATING TO CHURCH PROPERTY.

The Madison-avenue Baptist Church vs. The Oliver-street Baptist Church.—This cause has been in the Courts for several years, and as the determination of the issue raised concerned all religious societies incorporated under the general act of this State, the decision of the highest legal tribunal has been looked for with much interest. In 1862 five of the nine Trustees of the Madison-avenue Church—not having obtained the assent of a majority of the corporators—directed an application to be made to the Supreme Court for an order to convey the real and personal estate of that Church to the Oliver-street Church without the payment of any consideration; which order being obtained, the officers of the Trustees executed and delivered to the Oliver-street Church a deed of conveyance for the entire estate of the Madison-avenue Church, the value of same being at that time about $60,000 more than the indebtedness of the society. The object sought by that portion of the trustees and corporators who favored this transfer was the union of the two societies. In November, 1862, the Oliver-street Church took possession of the church edifice belonging to the Madison-avenue Church, on corner of Madison-avenue and Thirty-first-street, and have remained in occupation during the long litigation. In June, 1863, the Trustees of the Madison-avenue Church, under instructions of the corporators, brought suit of ejectment against the Oliver-street Church, claiming that the title of their property remained in their corporation, and that neither the assent of even a majority of the corporators, the application made by the Trustees, nor an order from the Supreme Court, nor all combined, could divest the Madison-avenue corporation of its estate without consideration.

This view has now been sustained by the Court of Appeals unanimously, who decide that the Oliver-street Church acquired no title of the real estate in question.

THE DECISION.

The opinion of the Court, written by Justice GROVER, after discussing the powers of Trustees over the temporalities of the religious corporation, proceeds to define the powers and authority delegated to the Supreme Court by the Legislature in regard to the alienation of church property. After quoting the eleventh section of the act for the incorporation of religious societies, viz., "that it shall be lawful for the Chancellor, (Supreme Court.) upon the application of any religious corporation, in case he shall deem it proper to make an order for the sale of any real estate belonging to such corporation, and to direct the application of the moneys arising therefrom by the said corporation to such uses as the same corporation, with the consent and approbation of the Chancellor, (Supreme Court,) shall conceive to be most for the interest of the society to which the real estate so sold did belong."

The Justice continues:

The inquiry is whether the contemplated conveyance from the plaintiff to the defendant upon the terms and consideration set out in the petition would constitute a sale within the meaning of the eleventh section of the act. A sale, as defined by Blackstone, 2d Com., 446, is "a transmutation of property from one man to another in consideration of some price or recompense in value." By Kent, 2d Com., 468, as "a contract for the transfer of property from one person to another for a valuable consideration, and among the requisites to its validity is mentioned the price paid." Bouvier, in his Law Dictionary, vol. 2, p. 377, defines a sale "as an agreement by which one man gives a thing for a price in current money; that this differs from a barter or exchange in this, that in the latter, the price, instead of being paid in money is paid in goods or merchandise susceptible of a valuation." The term as used in the statute should be construed as defined by Blackstone, 2d Kent. This would embrace every transaction for a valuable consideration, whether paid in cash or other property; in case payable in the latter, the property to be received should be specified in the petition, so as to enable the Court to determine whether the proposed contract is judicious on the part of the corporation. Tested by this construction, the arrangement set out in the petition was in no sense a sale of the property by the plaintiff to the defendant. There was no price whatever to be paid, therefore the plaintiff, as a corporation, was to derive no possible benefit as a consideration for the conveyance; true the members of the plaintiff's church were to be received into and become members of the defendant's church, and the plaintiff's corporators were to become corporators of the defendant. This may be regarded as a benefit conferred upon these classes as individuals, but can in no sense be so to the plaintiff regarded as a corporation. Indeed, the arrangement could only be made effectual by the dissolution of the plaintiff, and this result it was the manifest purpose of the arrangement to effect. In Wheaton vs. Gates, 18 N. Y., 395, it was held by this Court that the Trustees of a religious corporation have no power to distribute its property among its individual members or any class of them, and that an order for the sale of its real estate obtained upon a petition showing such to be the purpose of the sale was without jurisdiction and void, and that no title could be acquired by a purchaser at a sale made in pursuance of such order. This necessarily determines that the consideration for the sale must inure to the corporation making it as such, and not to the corporation as individuals, whether the consideration be pecuniary, or, as in the present case, facilities for the enjoyment of religious worship, or of any other nature, can make no difference. The additional security to the creditors of the plaintiff under the arrangement was not such a consideration to the plaintiff as to constitute the transaction a sale, if, indeed, it was any consideration whatever. From the petition it appears that these creditors were abundantly secure, and there is no intimation of any desire on their part for any additional security. The conveyance to the defendant was not made upon a sale to it by the plaintiff pursuant to the eleventh section of the act, and the title of the defendant cannot be sustained upon that ground. [After showing that religious corporations, unlike other corporations, are restrained in the disposition of their real estate, the Justice continues:] The practice of religious corporations desiring to sell real estate of resorting to the Legislature for special acts authorizing such sales, prevailing prior to the enactment of the eleventh section of the present act shows that it was understood that these acts of Elizabeth had divested them of the power to alienate without the consent of the sovereign authority. (Willard's Eq. Jour., pp. 734-'5.) The eleventh section was enacted to obviate the necessity of such applications to the Legislature in cases of sales where, as we have seen, the consideration must enure to the benefit of the corporation as such. In cases where it is desirable for these corporations to alienate real estate in any other way, or for any other purpose, application should still be made to the Legislature for the necessary authority. I have reluctantly arrived at the conclusion that the Court had no power to make the order for the conveyance in the present case, and that therefore no title was thereby acquired by the Defendant. But the security of the real estate of all religious corporations requires a strict adherence to the statute.

The case was argued by Hon. F. Comstock and Prof. C. C. Langdell, for plaintiff; By Hon. James Emott and Mr. Martin, for defendant.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM—SEPT. 19.

Before Judge McCunn.

A BLIND FATHER SEEKS HIS CHILD.

In re Patrick Burke.—The relator Patrick Burke, a blind man, sued out a writ of habeas corpus to bring up the body of his little girl, aged three years, who, he claimed, was detained by his wife, Winnifred Burke. He claimed that the mother of the child in whose custody she was, was not a fit person to take charge of her, because of long-continued habits of dissipation. It was stated that on the writ being served on the mother, she told the officer she would tear the child to pieces before she would surrender it to her husband.

Judge McCUNN consigned the child to the custody of her father, "whole and undivided," notwithstanding the mother made threats of "severance."

TUESDAY, Sept. 19—P. M.

There is an unpleasant state of things for the Public Credit in the Gold market today. The price has been advanced, and on no large amount of sales, but on the actual scarcity of Gold Notes against the present hoard of Gold Coin in the Treasury, to one hundred and fifteen ⅌ cent., the highest point since the Franco-Prussian War of 1870. The speculators have made an easy and successful corner in the Cash Gold, and in place of being content with a sharp bonus for its daily use, are now advancing the actual price in the market ⅛@¼ ⅌ cent. a day. It would require only another week, at this rate, to make the price 120 ⅌ cent., unless some relief comes from the Secretary of the Treasury. The extra sale of $2,000,000 last Thursday was not only absorbed by three days' Customs Duties, but the scarcity in the open market has since been aggravated by payments into the Treasury here by the Bank of California, by way of exchange for Gold out of the San Francisco Office. The transfer is no doubt made at a smaller cost to the Treasury than the Gold could be brought here from San Francisco, but the first effect is to draw upon (and lock up) so much Gold in the New-York market. The Secretary of the Treasury is still in Massachusetts, but it is said will pass through New-York in a day or two on his way back to Washington. Representations are constantly made to him in regard to the condition of the Gold premium and very contracted Gold supply, outside the Treasury, and of its adverse effect both here and in London upon the recently negotiated New Loan, which is now selling 1@1½ ⅌ cent. below the currency of Gold, with six weeks accumulated Interest. The difficulty tells against the facilities for negotiating Exchange against Domestic Produce most seriously, and the apprehension is that it will soon be felt upon our Customs Revenue. The Importers may be compelled to Bond their Goods in place of paying the Customs at once, as they would like to do, if the Gold could be had on reasonable terms. This occurred pending the Gold panic of September, 1869.

The Public Funds are comparatively steady, but not up to the relative price of Gold. They come lower from London, and it is quite evident that the adverse influence of higher Gold on the credit of the New Loan abroad will soon become serious.

There was a report in the Gold Room in the Afternoon that the Treasury sale advertised for Thursday may take place to-morrow, and the price fell from 115 to 114⅝ ⅌ cent.

Exchange is wholly demoralized, and first-class Bills 60 days London are 108 ⅌ cent. on actual sales.

Money has gone up from 3@5 ⅌ cent. to 5@7 ⅌ cent. on call loan, and both rates were paid today on Railway and Miscellaneous Stocks. This change is not unexpected after the last Bank return and the feeling of depression on the Stock Exchange, but the hope is that the question will soon settle down to one of price rather than supply.

The Stock Exchange looked better on the Railways and some of the Miscellaneous Stocks, like Western Telegraph and Pacific Mail, than at the close on Monday. There was a large business done, and, while the opening prices were low, the subsequent turn showed a good demand for Stocks, and the ultimate quotations were as follows, as compared with Monday night. On the Southern State Bonds, Tennessees were lower, and there was some activity in South Carolinas. The Pacific Railroad Mortgages are fairly supported, and the old Western Mortgages are in good demand.

The Railways showed some weakness at the close. The report about the Gold sale to-morrow was contradicted.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND LAND-GRANT BONDS
OF THE
ST. JOSEPH AND DENVER CITY RAILROAD COMPANY,

IN DENOMINATIONS OF $1,000, $500, AND $100, can now be had from the undersigned or through the principal banks and bankers of the United States. The attention of investors is invited to the merits of these bonds, secured by a first and only mortgage on the road, equipments, franchises, and property of a trunk line of railroad which will shorten the distance between New-York and San Francisco some 230 miles, and in addition the mortgage to secure the bonds covers a land-grant of 1,500,000 acres of the most fertile land in the West, which is prohibited from being sold at less than four ($4) dollars per acre by the terms of the mortgage deed, and according to the present market price of the Illinois Central Company's lands is worth $18,750,000. This loan was originally for $5,500,000, but has been largely reduced by subscriptions of actual investors. The remaining balance of the loan is offered at 97½ and accrued interest, but the right is reserved to advance the price at any time, without notice.

The bonds have thirty years to run; bear 8 per cent. interest, payable in New-York, London or Frankfort-on-the-Main, at the option of the holder, without notice, free of taxes. BOTH PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ARE PAYABLE IN GOLD. They are Coupon Bonds, but can be registered with the coupons ON, or can be registered with the coupons OFF, and interest paid to registered owner. Interest payable Aug. 15 and Feb. 15. A liberal sinking fund, formed from the entire land sales, in payment for which the bonds will be received at par and accrued interest, provides for the early extinguishment of this loan.

Trustees—Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

These bonds offer favorable inducements to parties desiring to fund their Five-Twenties, or other high-priced securities.

In converting Five-Twenties the investors realize 17 per cent. profit on the principal; 2 per cent. per annum excess of interest; and at the same time get a perfect security.

Maps, circulars, documents, and full information furnished on application.

Though acting as agents for the sale of this loan, our firm buy and sell in their regular business the bonds of the St. Joseph and Denver City Railroad Company, those of the Eastern Division being now quoted at 102 and accrued interest. These were originally placed by us at 97½.

☞ CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD SIX PER CENT. BONDS.

HARVEY FISK. A. S. HATCH.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH, BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES, No. 5 NASSAU-ST.,
NEW-YORK, Sept. 15, 1871.

The amount of these bonds remaining unsold is now so small, and the demand continues so great, that we expect soon to close out the remainder of the loan. They are issued in sums of $1,000, $500 and $100 each, either coupon or registered; interest payable May and November, interest and principal payable in coin in New-York City.

Holders of United States Sixes of 1881, Ten-Forties, and especially Five-Twenties, can largely increase their capital (17 to 25 per cent.) and income by exchanging for these bonds. Price today, 93 and accrued interest. We recommend them with the same entire confidence that we did the Central Pacific Railroad Bonds, now selling at a premium, and we believe they will, in time, command the same favorable estimation and price.

AN IMMEDIATE PROFIT OF FOURTEEN PER CENT.
AND AN ANNUAL INCREASE OF INCOME OF THIRTY-EIGHT PER CENT.,
WILL BE SECURED TO HOLDERS OF 5-20s BY CONVERTING THEM AT ONCE INTO
7-30 LAND-GRANT GOLD BONDS
OF THE
NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.
JAY COOKE & CO.

☞ THE FIRST MORTGAGE SEVEN PER CENT. GOLD BONDS of the WEST WISCONSIN RAILWAY COMPANY offer a rare chance for safe and profitable investment. They are a first and only lien upon the Road, which is now nearly completed, the rolling stock, telegraph, land grant, and all the property of the Company. The lands are released from taxation, and are worth more than the whole amount of the mortgage. The Road will form the great air-line route from Chicago and Milwaukee to St. Paul and the North-west. Bonds for sale at 90 and interest in currency, by WHITE, MORRIS & CO., No. 18 Wall-st., and GWYNNE, JOHNSON & DAY, No. 16 Wall-st., where pamphlets and further information can be obtained.

BUSINESS CHANCES.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING THIS day formed a copartnership under the firm name of GRIGGS & SNYDER, for the transaction of business as Financial Agents, succeeding the firm of E. H. GIBBS & CO., making the procuration of capital for business houses and incorporated companies the leading feature of our business. Offices, No. 98 Broadway.

Sept. 9, 1871.
JAMES M. GRIGGS,
of old firm of Lawrence, Griggs & Kingsbury.
GEORGE H. SNYDER.

A.—ADDITIONAL CAPITAL PROcured for merchants and manufacturers, also for incorporated companies. Our business has been established long enough, and one of our firm has had sufficient experience to judge with approximate accuracy of the success of most applications when made. We promise to deal with the public with candor and sincerity, and when applications are presented that we have reason to believe would fail, to reject them at once, and thus save our customers needless expense, delay and disappointment. A clear understanding of the duties of both the applicant for capital and the broker is necessary to enable all parties to fix the responsibility where it belongs in case an application fails of success.

It is the broker's duty, when he accepts an application, immediately to place the applicant in communication with unexceptionable parties who have the capital required, and desire to invest it with straightforward parties in a fairly profitable business. It is then the applicant's duty to show such a business to the investor. When each do their part, all applications go through smoothly and successfully. We do not mean in the future to accept any application until we know we can fulfill our part to the letter.

Parties having $2,000 to $100,000 to invest are requested to send memorandum to us, stating what kind of business they prefer. No charge against investors. All business confidential. Apply to

CARD FROM MR. GIBBS.

In withdrawing from the above business, I take pleasure in recommending my friends and the public who have business in their line to place it in the hands of Messrs. Griggs & Snyder. The business, although established but one year, has been a splendid success. We have procured capital for many of the best houses in New-York, in sums from $3,000 to $150,000, $150,000 having been procured the past week for Messrs. W. A. Smith & Co., cotton commission merchants, No. 50 Broad-st., office second floor. As my individual business occupied my own time, Mr. Snyder has transacted the entire business of the firm. Every negotiation he has made, every advertisement and letter he has written, and I believe, what many of our customers have said to me, that he is the ablest manager of this class of business in the City. I have withdrawn to enable him to make a connection that secures every facility required for the most successful prosecution of the business, ample capital, and the most extensive and influential business connections with our moneyed men and financial institutions. I have made the above recommendations not as a matter of form or favor to Messrs. Griggs & Snyder, but because I conscientiously believe they have the facilities for filling any application for capital, where the status of the parties and the condition of the business warrants its investment. I have known Mr. James M. Griggs for twenty years as a successful jobbing merchant of this City, than whom none stand higher. He has engaged in the above business after ample deliberation, believing that it can be made one of the institutions of New-York, alike creditable to himself and useful to the public.

E. H. GIBBS.

A. Kamak, Esq., No. 101 Chambers-st., is the gentleman referred to above who furnishes $150,000 for use in the cotton commission business of Messrs. W. A. Smith & Co. Mr. Kamak is one of our most unpretending, yet sagacious and successful German importing merchants.

BUSINESS CHANCES FOR LIVE MEN.—The stands at the Grand Military Festival will be sold at auction to the highest bidders on WEDNESDAY, Sept. 20, at the Fashion Course, at 3 o'clock P. M. The people of Jacksboro, Texas, are fearing an incursion of Indians, who have been driven southward from Kansas by Gen. Oakes.

The Innocence of A. Oakey Hall.

"Stop thief!" cries Hall; "Stop thief!" cries Tweed; "Stop thief!" cries Sweeny; "Stop thief!" cries the World, and all the rest of the crew which for years past have lived without work on the public Treasury. "Connolly must resign, and, if he will not resign, he must be put out; and, if he will not go, we must surround him with a crowd of unpaid laborers, and put him in bodily fear of a violent death, and then he will flee away. We must make him 'the scapegoat;' send him into the wilderness as a sin-offering, and, amid the clamor of gongs and tumultuous voices, make the credulous public rejoice with us, that Connolly alone is guilty, and that the guilty one has fled."

"Not quite so fast, brother Hall," says Connolly. "I will not resign; I will not be put out, but if I go, you and my other partners must go with me. If I am unworthy of trust, so are you and they, and you know it. I am not alone guilty. More than that, I am not as guilty as you, because you, Tweed, and Sweeny concocted at Albany, while I was in New-York, the acts for the payment of the fraudulent bills, and you, brother Hall, with your professional skill, showed me how the law could be interpreted so that the bills could be paid from the City Treasury, and without your skill you know I could not have done it. You were my master, and I followed my leader; and if you did not put your share of the plunder in real estate or in registered bonds, the only difference between us is that you were smarter than I was."

Now, every word of Connolly's rejoinder is true, and if our readers will give some attention to what we are about to state, we will prove it to a demonstration, relying solely upon the statements of Hall himself, under his own signature.

In the last Message but one which was sent by Hall to the Board of Supervisors, he said:

> "The passage of the acts known as the City Charter and the Supervisors' law of 1870 could not have been enacted unless some compromise of personal, official and political differences between legislators, or between them and County or City officials, had first been made. Many legislators were found prepared to vote for the charter who would not vote for the abolition of the Board of Supervisors, unless some means could be devised whereby all existing contracts and claims then pending before the old Board should be paid—suffice it to say that, as one of the means of compromise, the section of the law above quoted was agreed to, and it was understood to be a legislative direction to pay off the claims aforesaid."

Now, what was the section of the law, as quoted by Hall himself, which Tweed and Sweeny, as the engineers-in-chief at Albany, and Hall and Connolly at New-York, agreed to, as their "compromise of personal, official and political differences between legislators, or between them and County or City officials?" Hall cites it in full:

> Section 4. All liabilities against the County of New-York, incurred previous to the passage of this act, shall be audited by the Mayor, Controller and present President of the Board of Supervisors, and the amounts which are found to be due shall be provided for by the issue of revenue bonds of the County of New-York, payable during the year 1871, and the Board of Supervisors shall include in the ordinance levying the taxes for the year 1871 an amount sufficient to pay said bonds and the interest thereon. Such claims shall be paid by the Controller to the party or parties entitled to receive the same upon the certificate of the officers named herein.

Where in this section did Hall find any justification for his shameless assertion above quoted, that "it was understood to be a legislative direction to pay off the claims aforesaid?" Is it not clear to every man of common sense, that the Legislature directed no such thing, but, on the contrary, that the bills should not be paid on their face, but should first be "audited," and "the amounts which are found to be due" should then be paid? Did Hall, a reputed scholar, require to be informed what was the meaning of the words "all claims and liabilities against the County of New-York shall be audited by the Mayor," &c.? Did he not know, what everybody knows, that "audit is an examination of an account, with a hearing of the parties concerned, by proper officers or by persons appointed for that purpose, who compare the charges with the vouchers, examine witnesses and state the balance?" Hall knew perfectly well what duty this section of the law imposed upon him, but in the face of the law itself he says: "It was understood to be a legislative direction to pay off all claims aforesaid." By whom was it understood? Certainly not by the Legislature, because their language is explicit that the claims should be "audited" before they were paid. By whom, then, was it understood? By no others than the conspirators and the lobby, and who they were will never be known until all parties are put under oath, with the penalties of perjury staring them in the face.

The law having been passed, what then did Hall do? He called his colleagues, Connolly and Tweed, to sit together in convention on these claims, and he, a lawyer of matured experience, with a service of fifteen years as District-Attorney, advised them, in defiance of their own common sense, that the law, to use his own words, "did not constitute them a Court of Claims, but simply a Ministerial Board for inspection and certification; that the liabilities were to be paid according to the extent and wording of the legislative mandate, and that the interpretation of the law made them ministerial agents of the Legislature to pay off the claims and liabilities"—and therefore, he says, he offered the following resolution, which he quotes in full:

> Controller's Office, May 5, 1870.
>
> The undersigned meet as a Commission under and by virtue of section 4 of chapter 382 of the laws of 1870.
>
> On motion of the Mayor, it is
>
> Resolved, That the County Auditor collect from the appropriate Committees of the Board of Supervisors all bills and liabilities against the county incurred prior to April 26, 1870, and amount due thereon; that the evidence of the same be the authorization for the same by the said Board or its appropriate Committees on certificate of Clerk or President, and that thereupon the said County Auditor annex the voucher to the appropriate blanks for our signature, as directed by the section aforesaid, and payment.
>
> Signed by the officers named.

Who, then, was the moving spirit and zealous, eager advocate for the payment of Garvey, Ingersoll, Keyser & Co.? Who called Tweed and Connolly into convention? Who drafted the resolution for payment? Who moved the resolution, and advised his colleagues to vote for it? Was it Connolly? Was it Tweed? No; it was Hall, and Hall alone.

Now, what did this resolution require? It commanded Watson, the County Auditor, not to audit, but "to collect" together all the claims he could find anywhere on the Board of Supervisors, not audited by that Board or by any other body, get a certificate indorsed on them to be signed by Tweed, simply that the bills had been authorized by the Board, or by one of its committees, and then annex a voucher to all of them, to be signed by Hall, Tweed and Connolly for payment. All this was done, and in one day, at a single sitting, the vouchers were signed and paid, without any other examination of the bills whatever, to the amount exceeding six millions of dollars. Hall and Connolly both signed the warrants for their payment, and whether Ingersoll & Co., to whom they were all specially indorsed, paid over any portion of the proceeds to Tweed, no one yet has been willing to reveal; and how much of the proceeds went to satisfy "the compromise of personal, official and political interests," which Hall says was the object of the law, will never be known until some one of the conspirators shall turn State's evidence.

And, in order to make the complicity of Hall in these frauds, if possible, more conclusive, we must add another item of evidence—from his message, under his own signature. It was not enough for him to wrest the law from its obvious intent and meaning, and to advise his colleagues to adopt his interpretation of it, but he gives as one of the reasons for his conduct, with shameless audacity, that "it was also his official desire to extinguish all debt legacies of the old County Government, large though they might be, so as not to incumber the operations of the new one." In other words—hear it, ye plundered citizens—your Mayor declares to you that he was actually anxious to pay these fraudulent claims out of your money; and he adds, by way of warning to you for the future, if he is permitted to remain in the Mayoralty, "that in view of the enlarged criticism made upon the payment of these liabilities, he is of opinion that he would feel compelled to perform at this time precisely the official services which he performed at the dates of the criticised warrants."

We ask our readers, therefore, whether we have not proved the assertion with which we commenced this article? Is it not clear to demonstration, unmistakably under his own signature, that Hall himself was the prime mover in the payments to Ingersoll & Co., and that he "supervised and approved," "adopted and vindicated" all that Connolly has done?

Who, then, in this community, after this demonstration, can be found so stupid as to say that Connolly alone is guilty and that Hall is innocent? Who will not rather say that Hall is more guilty than either? The truth, at last, is now painfully evident, that Hall and Connolly, Tweed and Sweeny are all rogues together, and that we shall have no security for property nor safety to life, until they all take the Rogue's March, to the joy of the people, to parts unknown.

A Very Transparent Farce.

It only needed Mayor Hall's letters to the Corporation Counsel to crown his reputation as an addle-headed blunderer. He cannot take another step which will render him more ridiculous; there is no silly evasion left for him to adopt which can render him more contemptible. He never was capable of understanding the force of honest public opinion, and he does not understand it now. He thought that well-substantiated charges of the grossest corruption would "blow over;" he thought that the people would applaud his treachery to an old associate; he thought that a public man, having a reputation to lose, would be willing to make the attempt to screen him from public indignation; he still thinks that the people believe him to be innocent, and he fondly imagines that the tax-payers will again be deceived by the professions of a man who, in three days, has twice eaten his own words, and who now invites the prosecution of the tools of an infamous system of plunder, while the principals remain unpunished. Mr. Connolly is to retain his position, and Mr. Green will continue—in spite of Mayor Hall's silly attempt to ignore him—to discharge, on behalf of the people, the functions of Deputy Controller. The Mayor has found that his threats and his attempted coercion were equally wasted, and he appears before the people in the humiliating position of having, for the basest purposes, tried to effect an illegal stretch of his authority. The further correspondence of Hall and O'Gorman reads like a stupendous hoax. The Corporation Counsel may not be a very brilliant lawyer, but nobody will suspect him of having originated the extraordinary suggestion that the Ring tradesmen should be selected as the next scapegoats of the Ring. "Prosecute the rogues who presented 'extravagant' bills." is O'Gorman's advice to one of the rogues who connived at the frauds. "You are the prosecutor on behalf of the people," is the reply of Hall, who had evidently arranged the little comedy, "you can make a pretense of compelling Ingersoll, Garvey, Keyser and the rest to disgorge, recognizing, of course, the unquestioned integrity of our mutual friend Tweed, and others who shall be nameless."

The Mayor has an exceedingly low estimate of public intelligence, if he imagines that this move will deceive anybody. He must know very well that the Corporation Counsel cannot move an inch in the matter without being compelled to recognize the fact, which everybody is already acquainted with, that Ingersoll and his fellow-tradesmen could never have swindled the public without the aid and consent of greater thieves within the Ring. All the evidence against Tweed and his confederates did not disappear with the stolen vouchers. A prosecution conducted by receivers against thieves would not be so hollow a sham as these proceedings contemplated by the Ring against their tools. This latest device for eluding punishment, at which Hall clutches with all the energy of despair, can only have the effect of hastening his own ruin. It will not delay for a single moment the proceedings which are being taken to bring the chief offenders to justice. The single merit of the step is, that it will be found equally fatal to the men who have taken it, whether they advance or recede from it. To do either will put Mayor Hall in such a position that no other alternative but resignation will remain for him. For, if he abandon a resolution so ostentatiously announced, he will convict himself of such idiotic vacillation that his removal from office will become an imperative necessity, and should he bring Ingersoll, Garvey and Keyser into a criminal Court, they will be compelled to make such revelations as will place the Mayor and his associates in the dock beside them. Probably this is what the Mayor means in his allusion to "such consequences as fall outside of duty's sphere."

The announcement made in an evening paper that Sweeny is willing to accept Mr. Green's appointment, and has advised Mayor Hall to do the same, is only another trick designed to deceive the public. Sweeny has too much to fear from Mr. Green's investigations to consent to that gentleman remaining in the Controller's office.

Great Combination of Talent.

The fifteen editorial writers of the Herald —one-third European, as it proudly boasted the other day—have now all been set to work to raise a Chinese din about the position of its Ring friends. For months past it has been swearing by St. Andrew that there was "nothing in" the charges brought against its Tammany cronies. It has suddenly discovered that this move won't work, and consequently its fifteen writers are instructed to pound away on the drum, and try to get the ear of the public once more. Yesterday this galaxy of talent contrived to "get off" eight "editorials" on City affairs, of which the following is an accurate synopsis:

1. Mayor Hall is the greatest man in the world.
2. There will be a scrub race for the Presidency. Mayor Hall is the people's only hope.
3. Mr. Charles O'Conor is a "muff," but the Herald is a great paper, and Mayor Hall directs it on all municipal questions.
4. Tippecanoe and Tyler, too—by the Eternal, as Jackson said—"Mr. Hall is bound to put his foot upon it."—"The Mayor has solved the problem."—Bother the public interests, so long as we can save "everybody's friend," Oakey Hall. N. B.—The New-York Times is a Communist journal.
5. Take the New-York Herald, and always vote for Mayor Hall.
6. Mr. Hall is the only honest man in the community, and the Herald is his mouth-piece. Support both. Don't read the New-York Times.
7. Give up the Times and take the Herald.
8. Tilden, Havemeyer, Green, all are humbugs. Your true friend is Hall, and if you put your faith in him and the Herald you will be all right.

This is a perfectly fair abstract of the eight "editorials" which were dumped into the "intellectual department" of the Herald yesterday by its fifteen writers—one-third "European." It will be seen that the Herald, although it has dishonestly suppressed every particle of evidence against its Ring friends —so that its readers must wonder what on earth it means by talking about "astounding frauds," "amazing revelations," &c.—is, at last awake, and is trying to make up by noise for its very late appearance in the field. It only comes at the eleventh hour, but it means to make a tremendous uproar now, and to get Hall and Sweeny out of the clutches of justice if it can. It will have to give up this line, just as it had to abandon the "say-nothing-about-it-and-wait-till-it-blows-over" game—it will have to eat humble pie, and we daily expect a messenger from it to thank us for our friendly hints, and to offer us the present of half a dozen yachts or so for the trouble we have taken on its behalf.

The One-Term Principle.

That eminent political economist and candidate for the Presidency, Mr. Horace Greeley, has written an article for the Galaxy on what he calls "The One-Term Principle." The article has apparently a mixed motive. It is partly intended to divert the advocates of civil service reform from the support of President Grant for renomination, on the ground that the "tap root" of the "upas tree" of the corruption of the civil service is the failure to impose that limitation. Whether Mr. Greeley also meant to belittle the reform by limiting its scope to one point, we do not care to surmise. Whatever the purpose of the article, it has that effect, and the effect is very much to be deplored. If Mr. Greeley's conception of the range of that reform is confined to the necessity of awakening a public opinion against the re-election of Presidents, he has taken but a narrow view of the subject. It is unfortunate that a man to whom so many listen has not had something more instructive to say on a subject of such overwhelming importance.

Mr. Greeley's article is, as we have intimated, confused. But there is a very evident effort to show that the people look with disfavor on renominations to the Presidency, and that it is dangerous, from a partisan point of view, to encourage a President in accepting a renomination. Mr. Greeley's idea seems to be that the limitation to one term has grown to be a sort of custom which ought to be regarded. In this light may be interpreted his recent speech out West, when, after saying that if "it pleased his countrymen to advance him to any place of profit or honor, he would accept of it for the good of his country," he went on to say, "we are making innovations and breaking time-honored customs in a way that bodes no good to our continued prosperity." But the custom of rejecting a President after one term has been more honored in the breach than in the observance. It is true that, since Jackson's day, which is the period to which our historian prudently limits his researches, the people have rejected Van Buren, and that their respective parties have declined to renominate Fillmore and Pierce, while Polk and Buchanan did not seek re-election. But it is also true that of the six Presidents preceding Jackson, four—Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe —served a second term. Since Jackson, the lamented Lincoln was chosen a second time—though Mr. Greeley, perhaps, is justified in passing lightly over the case of Mr. Lincoln, whom he did all he could to prevent being re-chosen. Historians who write with what the French call a parti pris, are notoriously poor teachers of the philosophy of history, and Mr. Greeley is no exception to the rule. There are unquestionably grave difficulties connected with the eligibility of our Chief Magistrate to re-election, but they are not the "root" of all the political corruption in the land, nor have they ever prevented the people from gladly, and on the whole very wisely, availing themselves of the discretion left with them by the Constitution. Hobbies are poor horses to ride to the White House on at best, and of all the hobbies that our amiable friend has mounted for that journey, we think the "One-Term Principle" is among the lamest, and is certainly ridden by him in the most awkward manner.

"Tammany Republicans."

As the time for the State Convention draws near, the Tribune becomes more eager in its appeals to the Republicans of the interior to come to the rescue of the Tammany Republican Committee of this City, which, in spite of the advice of Mr. Greeley, proposes to send a contesting delegation on a fruitless errand to Syracuse.

The Tribune's treatment of the Tammany thieves, whose plunder of the City Treasury it was so reluctant to credit, has been mild and even eulogistic when compared with its onslaughts upon those hapless Republicans who would not consent to join a faction which the Tribune had formerly denounced. Yesterday it devoted considerable space to an attack on at least three-fourths of the honest sincere Republicans of this City. If the Tribune, claiming to be a Republican paper, can afford to print such articles, those at whom its attacks are aimed can certainly afford to stand the libels.

When the Tribune undertakes to make the Republicans of the interior believe that the men composing the great bulk of the party in this City are mere tools of Mr. Murphy, and that the Anti-Tammany organization, which has been formed here under the direction of the State Committee, is a mere Custom-house clique, it practices a gross deception upon its readers, at the same time it insults their common sense. If Mr. Murphy is the wonderful being which the Tribune's statements would imply, he is certainly the greatest political organizer in this State, and ought to be accepted as the leader of the party. But Republicans here have no such extravagant opinion of his power and influence, and it is not at all likely that he is aware of it himself. Let us look at the men who, the Tribune says, are the "tools" of Mr. Murphy, and are blindly following his lead to disorganize the party in this City. Passing over the State Committee, which, the Tribune informed us long ago, was merely his "pliant tool," let us come to the list of names elected night before last as delegates to the State Convention. Here are a few of the men whom the Tribune represents as "Murphy's tools," and whom it tells the "Republicans of the interior" are to constitute his delegation to the Convention:

Edwin D. Morgan, Geo. Opdyke, Jackson S. Schultz, Henry Clews, James R. Taylor, James Duncan, William Orton, Isaac H. Bailey, John Sedgwick, Erastus C. Benedict, Isaac Dayton, Gen. James H. Wilson Theodore W. Dwight, James W. Farr, Henry, Highland Garnet, James W. Booth, John J. Townsend, Hugh Gardner, Col. Joel W. Mason, Henry D. Lapaugh, Benj. K. Phelps, Louis Naumann, Ethan Allen, and many more of the same stamp.

The Tribune knows full well that the entire crowd of Tammany Republicans in this City could not muster a tithe of the names of Republicans of character and standing given in the above list. Fortunately the list was published in the same number of the Tribune that contained the libel on the party in this City, and is of itself a complete refutation of the slander. "Republicans of the interior," whom the Tribune is so fond of invoking, will see from this list how utterly absurd are the statements with which that paper tries to deceive its readers. If they wish to know who constitute the Tammany Republican faction of this City, we can tell them. The nucleus, and in fact the bulk, of the faction consists of men whom the Tribune has denounced repeatedly within the last year as traitors, who have used their influence and position in the Republican Party to betray into the hands of Tammany Hall. Around this nucleus are gathered three classes of men, calling themselves Republicans:

First—The personal enemies of Collector Murphy, who, enraged because they could not get all the patronage of the Custom-house for themselves and their friends These men are continually talking about "Murphy's tools" and the "Custom-house clique."

Second—The enemies of Gen. Grant and his administration—mostly disappointed office-seekers. Their denunciations of the Republican President, and the Administration generally, may be heard in season and out of season, and are more violent even than those of their rivals the Democrats.

Third—Partisans of Senator Fenton, who are trying to make use of the divisions here to promote the political interests, or gratify the supposed spite, of their chief against Senator Conkling.

These are the kind of men who compose the Tammany Republican organization in this City, and who, through their organ the Tribune, are trying to persuade the Republicans of the interior to vote for their admission to the State Convention as representatives of the Republican Party of this City. Mr. Greeley told them, when he consented to take the Chairmanship of their Committee, with a view, as he said, to bring about harmony, that they would not succeed in gaining admission, and we believe he was right.

A Market for Long Island Farmers.

Under stress of the ill treatment they have received at the hands of the officials and commission men of this City, the farmers of Long Island are rising in rebellion. Those of them who reside in the vicinity of Springfield, recently met and resolved, after due notice, to bring no more produce to the New-York market, until suitable facilities were afforded them for its disposal. The market gardeners of Jamaica have followed suit, and the movement is spreading rapidly, so that it is likely to include all the farmers on the Island. The immediate cause for this revolt is that the truckmen have recently become so numerous as to blockade the streets in the vicinity of Washington Market, and materially interfere with the transaction of business in that section of the City. It became necessary, therefore, to issue orders forbidding them from congregating in West and the other streets in the immediate vicinity of the Market, but allowing them to stand in line in the streets leading from Broadway to the river. As store-keepers and business men in these streets complained that the stoppage of so many wagons in front of their stores interfered with the transaction of business, a subsequent order was issued preventing the truckmen from remaining even in these side streets later than 8 o'clock in the morning.

Driven from their foothold in New-York, the farmers have been forced to adopt strenuous measures, and have determined to cut off our supplies. Still, they will undoubtedly make a decided effort to obtain a suitable place to carry on their traffic in this City, but meanwhile, they intend petitioning the Brooklyn Common Council to grant them a stand where they may sell their products without interruption. There is so little space in the lower part of the City not occupied for business purposes, and markets already established there are so uncomfortably overcrowded, that it is difficult to see what can be done here for the accommodation of these discontented Long Islanders. We want their vegetables most undoubtedly, but we can do nothing which will increase the nuisances already clustering around Fulton, Washington, and the other down-town Markets. Up-town, as at the foot of Thirty-fourth-street and North River, and in other desirable localities, private enterprise is endeavoring to meet the imperative demand for increased market space, but there is not the same chance in this section of the City.

Brooklyn will soon be able to supply New-York with the additional dockage which is required for her shipping, and so it may prove as regards her markets. There is ample room over there, near Wallabout Bay, for the establishment of a market extensive enough to meet the present and prospective wants of a large section of this City, and of Brooklyn, too, while the farmers over the river are beginning to think that perhaps they can dispose of their goods just as well without crossing the ferries. The completion of the East River Bridge, and the establishment of a ferry from some point near the market to one of the principal up-town streets, would make this Wallabout Market quite as convenient to most City dealers as the large down-town ones now are. An East River ferry from Brooklyn to the foot of Twenty-third or Thirty-fourth streets is much needed, and is likely to be established when the Grand Union Railroad Depot on Fourth-avenue gets fairly in operation, as a convenience for Brooklyn travelers. A Wallabout Market seems the most satisfactory solution of the difficulties of the Long Island farmers, and at the same time would be very advantageous to Brooklyn, without working any detriment to this City. There are butchers enough on Manhattan Island and in New-Jersey to fill the markets already established here, and, as has been shown, large dealers will ultimately be able to purchase as advantageously in Brooklyn as in this City. If sufficient market space can not be obtained in the lower part of this City, let us have it in Brooklyn by all means.

MINOR TOPICS.

The Committee of Seventy, at their meeting yesterday, cordially indorsed the appointment of Mr. Andrew H. Green as Deputy Controller, and conveyed to him an assurance of their esteem and confidence, and a promise of all the support they could afford him in his trying position. They probably had not read in the Herald that Mr. Green is "no better than ninety-nine out of a hundred of the other Tammany place-men." They also call on all good citizens to give Mr. Green their moral support. They could not have read the Herald's lucid exposure of Mr. Green's utter lack of title to his position, and of the "proverbial looseness" of Mr. O'Conor's legal opinions. If they had, they would have hesitated before committing themselves in opposition to the Herald's stupendous legal prestige.

Hon. Wm. S. Groesbeck is a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination. On the 13th inst. he made a speech at Steubenville, Ohio, in which he upset the Democratic platform on the currency question without ceremony. To make amends for this, he launched the following bit of political calumny:

> "Many of you will remember when the party now in power endeavored to disfranchise our foreign-born population. It succeeded for a time, but Democracy at last triumphed, and saved the political rights of our foreign-born."

The Republican Party was established at its formation on the doctrine of equal rights for all men, without reference to race or other condition. It has never swerved a hair's breadth from that position. The party which sought to proscribe foreigners—the Know-nothing—has contributed very many leaders to the Democracy, notably in this State. Among them are Oakey Hall and Mr. Brooks, of the Express, and these men are now no more sincerely catholic in their views than they were in their "Native American" days. But the Republican Party is now, as it has always been, stanch in the support of government by the whole people, for the whole people.

It is evident that the minor Democratic journals, such as the New-York Express and the Albany Argus, which stuck to the defense of the Ring to the last moment, now feel, since the Ring is broken, very much bewildered as to what course they should pursue. They wander backward and forward, now muttering a few words about the necessity for a "thorough investigation," now prating of "lost opportunities," and now of "censuring the party leaders in the Metropolis." The Argus, moreover, is getting ready for an exit. It winds up its last article on the "Situation in New-York" with an allusion to "the cause of good government in which we are now all enlisted." If the Argus has come to that, it might as well put up its shutters. Its business is closed.

Railway directors may get a valuable hint from a sketch in the Berlin Kladderadatsch, the German Punch. It represents a dealer in "necessities for railroad travelers" offering a tourist an immense coat of triple-wadded armor, tastefully gotten up, and supplemented by a cork leg and a crutch. By its side is a trunk, with regular buffers on each end. Through the window, the traveler sees a locomotive on the track, its smoke-pipe appropriately surrounded by a death's head. The scene is as suggestive as if it were drawn from some point hard by the depot of the Eastern Railway of Massachusetts.

The debate in the French Assembly on removing the capital permanently from Paris seems to have ended in smoke. M. Louis Blanc has gone strongly against the bill, saying, shrewdly enough, among other things, that the existing authorities ought not to put it in the power of conspirators to say to Paris, "They wished to make Paris a provincial town; we restore you to the rank of capital." M. Leon Say, the Prefect of the Seine, was likewise eloquent on the same side, and the last rumor is, that the Government will adopt an amendment by M. de Pressense, the effect of which will be to leave the matter undecided. It would be very easy for a Republican Assembly to offend Paris just now, and, in that case, it might not be very difficult for the Imperialists to propitiate her.

AMUSEMENTS.

About the Theatres.

AFFAIRS AT BOOTH'S.

With the present week Miss Lotta's engagement at Booth's will terminate. She acted, Monday, in "The Little Detective," which does not solicit attention as a new play, but was then brought out for the first time this season. Miss Lotta fills six different characters in "The Little Detective," or, to speak with more precision, wears six different dresses, for the young lady is utterly incapable of concealing her charming personality except by a change of garb. As already announced, Miss Cushman and Mr. Creswick succeed her on Monday next.

WALLACK'S.

With this week the performances of Miss Lydia Thompson and her company end at Wallack's Theatre. "Blue Beard" was reproduced yesterday, and remains upon the bills until Friday, when an entertainment, rich in attractiveness, is to bring together the admirers of Miss Thompson—or rather, as many of them as can be stored in the auditorium of the house—on the occasion of the benefit-night of that lady.

WOOD'S MUSEUM.

Miss Lucille Western is filling an engagement at Wood's Museum, and now impresses the very large proportion of play-goers whose emotions are usually swayed by her acting, in "Leah, the Forsaken." Neither the artist nor the play requires introduction. Miss Western's picture of Leah is painted in the strong colors for which her dramatic gallery is conspicuous, and if it is not notable for the finish of Miss Bateman's, or the power of Mme. Janauschek's, it can at least be spoken of as theatrically forceful in no ordinary degree.

UNION-SQUARE THEATRE.

The entertainment at the new Union-square Theatre has been cleverly pruned since its first rehearsal, and it now embraces as much variety and novelty as could be desired. When the Vokes family are at hand, there is little doubt that Mr. Butler's establishment will be a centre of attraction for weeks. Meanwhile, his company interpret a bill in which vocal and instrumental music, burlesque and very neat dancing are included, and such a thing as ennui is really banished from the house from 8 o'clock in the evening until close upon midnight.

Musical.

THE MOULTON CONCERTS.

The appearance of Mrs. Charles B. Moulton in the concert-room will positively occur on Oct. 16. The debut in public of the lady, was looked for a year or two ago, after a private performance had produced a profound impression. Expectation, however, was then disappointed, and Mrs. Moulton returned to France, where she was heard in entertainments for charitable purposes, and at the Tuileries Palace, and at Compiègne, until the Empire fell. We have reason to believe that the accession of Mrs. Moulton to the ranks of the songstresses now before the public will be an important one. Mrs. Moulton has an art-education and experience not exceeded in extent or quality by those of the leading professional songstresses of the day. She will sing, of course, at Steinway Hall.

THE VIENNA ORCHESTRA.

With the exception of Thursday night, when the Vienna Orchestra is to be heard in Brooklyn, Mr. Rullmann's company appears at Steinway Hall until the close of this week. The spectacle is a curious one, and much of the music by the orchestra is cleverly recited, though it has too little body, so to speak, to be at all admirable. Miss Elzer sings as usual, and the superb voice of Mr. Mueller causes one to anticipate with regret the baritone's departure on a Winter tour.

CENTRAL PARK GARDEN.

Mr. Theodore Thomas' concerts end on Saturday night. We believe it is true that music will be had at the Central Park Garden throughout the Winter, but we cannot hope that it will be of the same order, or that the interpretation will be of the same quality. If Mr. Thomas' orchestra made this City their abiding place there would be no occasion to read with envy the accounts of instrumental recitals in Paris and London. A more complete and skilled force of musicians has never been assembled under a more ambitious and industrious chief.

NEWCOMB & ARLINGTON'S MINSTRELS.

Our up-town readers, on whom minstrelsy has not lost its influence, will find no merrier or more clever representatives of that branch of public entertainments than among Messrs. Newcomb & Arlington's company. The new opera house is bright and comfortable, the programme as comprehensive and as varied as an art which, to be candid, is in its decline, can supply, and the performers are numerous and skilled. The preface of songs, the after-chapters of comic acts and dances, and the epilogue of burlesque can nowhere be read with more cheery surroundings.

PERSONAL.

Mr. George W. Colby returned to this City Sunday by the Oceanic....Mr. Wehli is expected Monday by the City of Brooklyn....Miss Clara Doria and Mr. Aynsley Cook and wife, all of the Parepa-Rosa English opera troupe, arrived by the City of London day before yesterday.

POLITICAL.

CALIFORNIA.

Corrected Returns of the Election—The Vote for Governor and Complexion of the Legislature—The Chinese.

The Sacramento Union of the 12th inst. gives corrected returns from forty-five counties in California, of which twenty give BOOTH majorities aggregating 9,708, and twenty-five give HAIGHT majorities aggregating 4,933. This leaves BOOTH 4,775 ahead. There were yet five counties from which no returns, or next to none, had been received. In these counties GRANT, in 1868, had majorities aggregating 534 and SEYMOUR 253. If BOOTH does as well as GRANT did in these five counties, they will add 281 to his present majority, and bring him out 5,056 ahead in the State.

The Union figures up the Assemblymen elect, as far as heard from, at 55 Republicans, 18 Democrats, and 1 Independent. The Senate is almost certainly Democratic by two majority.

The San Francisco Alta, in alluding to the election and its results, gives the following:

"A very important question is the treatment of the Chinese, who are now employed extensively in the work of the grain-fields, vineyards, orchards, berry patches, kitchen gardens, tule reclamation, railroad and wagon-road building, and factories of various kinds. They are employed by men of both parties, and are patronized directly and indirectly by all classes of our white population, to whose business, as now conducted, they are indispensable. The two platforms denounce Chinese immigration in similar terms, but many of the Democratic politicians would like to expel suddenly all the Chinese now in the country, whereas the Republicans favor a more humane policy. We do not anticipate any speedy reduction in the number of our Asiatic laborers."

NEW-YORK STATE.

The Election of Delegates in the First Assembly District in Oneida County.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The statement in the New-York Tribune that there was any irregularity in the election of Senator CONKLING, E. A. BAKER and ELI AVERY as delegates from the First Assembly District of Oneida County to the Republican State Convention, is false. Although the Convention was interrupted by some rowdies hired for that purpose by an agent of Tammany Hall, Mr. CONKLING and his colleagues were duly and regularly elected delegates. The alleged election of contestants is an entire sham.

The Utica Herald of Monday morning condemns the bolters' action as inexcusable, and says:

"The clear majority of the regularly chosen delegates to the District Convention favored the election of Senator CONKLING as delegate, even if we count the Seventh and Ninth Ward delegates in opposition to him as regular. The pretended contest in the other Wards is an afterthought for mischief. The regular Convention, although disturbed in its proceedings, carried on its business in form, and its delegates and its organization must be accepted as alone regular. The claims of those who withdrew from the Convention are not tenable and cannot be sustained by those who recognize the binding authority of party organization and the right of a majority of delegates duly elected to control the action of a Convention. We regret profoundly the whole distraction. No one is benefited by it except the enemies of the Republican Party. The advocates of Tammany chuckle over it, and have doubtless in every way contributed to it. The Republicans of the district by a strong majority deprecate every element and movement disturbing the harmony of the party."

Republican County Convention at Rome, N. Y.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 19.—At the Republican County Convention held in Rome, today, Hon. S. S. LOWERY, of Utica, was nominated for State Senator; Hon. A. H. BAILEY, of Rome, for County Judge; J. S. AVERY, of Clinton, for Surrogate, and D. C. STODDARD, of Utica, for District-Attorney. Strong resolutions were unanimously adopted, indorsing the Administration of Gen. GRANT, the course of Senator CONKLING, and the record of Congressman ROBERTS. The entire proceedings were harmonious.

Address of the Young Men's Republican Association.

The Executive Committee of the Young Men's Republican State Association, of which Hon. G. HILTON SCRIBNER is President, have just issued the following address:

To the Republicans of the State of New-York:

An election of momentous importance is approaching, and the time for preparation is already at hand. Recent events, including the frightful disclosures of municipal corruption, have revealed to the people the dangerous tendencies of Tammany rule, and have aroused a public sentiment which puts victory within our grasp. Never was the success of a party more important to the welfare of the whole State; as a Republican triumph presents the only means of the reform so loudly called for. The people are fully alive to this state of facts, and the result is only made doubtful by a lack of harmony in our own ranks. At this time, when we have special reason to present a united front to the enemy, there is danger of our strength being frittered away by the senseless strife between the partisans of rival leaders, and by the efforts of those who would prematurely force a discussion of the claims of Presidential candidates upon the people this year. The great body of the Republican Party has no sympathy with and takes no interest in these divisions, which are fostered and directed by a comparatively small number of professional politicians in the various counties of the State.

Upon the approaching State Convention really depends the result of the campaign. If well conducted and harmonious; if it be true to the party as a whole, and not to a section of it; if it judiciously reconciles conflicting interests, and presents a ticket of undoubted worth, and acceptable to all, victory is sure. But that this end may be accomplished, the delegates composing it must be men of commanding character, purest patriotism and large ability. We call, then, upon the patriotic masses of the party, personally to attend the primary meetings and district conventions, and to see that none are elected as delegates to this State Convention but those who are sterling Republicans—not distinctively Grant men, Greeley men, Conkling men, or Fenton men—but Republicans, owing no political allegiance save to the party at large; men of character, influence, and ability, having no personal ends to serve, and no object to attain but the welfare and success of Republican principles. With a Convention formed of such materials, wise counsels will prevail, harmony be established, and success at the polls be assured.

Delegates to the Republican State Convention.

The following delegates to the Republican State Convention have been chosen from the counties and districts named:

MONROE.—First District—Joseph A. Stull, Gilbert C. Childs, John McGill. Second District—J. M. Davy, Thomas C. Montgomery, Jesse Shepherd.

CHEMUNG.—Samuel C. Taber, E. P. Brooks, David B. Sweet.

CAYUGA.—Second District—John S. Fowler, A. L. Sisson, John B. Strong, B. A. Fordyce.

FRANKLIN.—W. Gillis, P. H. Shields, W. D. Brennan.

SARATOGA.—First District—John B. McLean, George H. Stewart, William Buckwell.

MADISON, Second District.—Henry Ten Eyck, J. N. Messenger, Leonard C. Vilbam.

OSWEGO, Third District.—Chauncey Sage, A. S. Warner, James. W. Fenton.

The Attorney-General.

The most important of the State nominations to be made by the Republican Party this Fall is that of the Attorney-General. Upon the gentleman elected to this office will devolve the delicate and formidable duty of proceeding by civil action, and criminal process against the corrupt members of the Tammany Ring, so that the public funds illegally appropriated by the rulers of this City and their confederates may be restored to the Treasury and the guilty parties punished. This is work which ought not to be intrusted to any mere politician. A lawyer of ability must be selected—one who is above all reproach, who is familiar by practice with the criminal law of the State, and who is of known resolution and tact. If the selection of the party falls upon a gentleman possessed of these several qualifications, he would be a power upon the ticket. In view of these considerations, an effort is being made to induce the present District-Attorney of Orange County, Mr. STEPHEN W. FULLARTON, to accept the nomination. Mr. FULLARTON is one of the ablest lawyers practicing in the Second Judicial District, and was selected by Mr. FOLEY as his counsel, along with Judge BARRETT and Mr. STRAHAN, in the injunction proceedings against the City and County of New-York.

Call for a Catholic State Temperance Convention.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16, 1871.

To the Reverend Clergy and Officers of Father Mathew and other Catholic Temperance Organizations in the State of New-York:

The great benefits resulting from the formation of the Father Mathew and other temperance societies, in checking the great evil, intemperance, encourage us to make an effort to extend the influence of these organizations. We would, therefore, respectfully invite representatives from each of the above mentioned societies of this State to convene, that we may learn our strength, compare the rules and laws whereby we are governed, and counsel together on the best means of accomplishing the grand object for which we labor.

One year ago a few of the societies in the central part of this State, met in this City to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of the great apostle of temperance, and then organized a temporary State society, with the following-named gentlemen as officers: President—Rev. Dr. O'HARA, Syracuse, N. Y.; Vice-President—Dr. Reynolds, Owego, N. Y.; Treasurer—James Purcell, Skaneateles, N. Y.; Secretary—T. Sullivan, Syracuse, N. Y.; Corresponding Secretary—P. Phelan, Syracuse, N. Y.

The above-named officers were duly instructed to call a State Temperance Convention, and in accordance therewith we hereby respectfully invite two or more delegates from each of said societies in the State to meet at Shakspeare Hall, Syracuse, N. Y., on Tuesday, Oct. 10, 1871, at 10 o'clock A. M., the anniversary of the birth of the great apostle of temperance, Father MATHEW, and to form a permanent State temperance society. We would, in the interim, request the secretaries of each organization to return us the date of the formation of each of their societies, the names of their officers, and the number of their members.

J. A. O'HARA, D.D., President.

T. SULLIVAN, Secretary.

The National Guard—Letter from Senator Fenton.

Col. WILLIAM S. BULL, of the Independent Battalion N. G. S. N. Y., of Buffalo, has promulgated in a general order, which is published in the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, the following letter, with the explanation that it was received too late to be read at their recent encampment at Bemus Point, Chautauqua Lake:

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 19, 1871.

Col. Wm. S. Bull, Commanding Independent Battalion National Guard:

MY DEAR SIR: I shall be detained in the West beyond the period of your encampment on our beautiful lake. I greatly regret that I cannot be there to welcome you, to visit with you, and witness your good—I feel sure it will be good—military display. I have for many years felt a deep interest in the organization and maintenance of an effective military force in our State. During the period that I was Governor I omitted no proper opportunity to press upon the attention of the Legislature and our citizens the importance of a well-regulated citizen-soldiery in the more populous districts of the commonwealth. Our common experience shows that the benefit of such a military body cannot be too highly estimated. With an enlightened people a complete militia system enlists upon the side of law and order a large number of the best citizens, and creates an organized force of sufficient strength to discourage or repel outbreaks against the peace and quiet of society. Besides, it tends to keep bright the chastened memories of the nation's trials and triumphs, and excites more exalted feelings of personal responsibility to the Government. It is unwise, however, as well as impracticable, to organize the whole arms-bearing population. On the other hand, we could not create a class militia without making distinctions opposed to the genius of our institutions. It is a source of pride, therefore, to turn to our own National Guard organization and militia system as the best solution of the question yet found in any of the States. Its patriotic character and good discipline has already deservedly attained high reputation.

Congratulating your command, I beg you all to accept my best wishes for the pleasure of your visit to Chautauqua County, with the assurance that in the future, as in the past, whatever I can do to promote the welfare of, and strengthen, our "National Guard," will cheerfully be done. Very truly yours,

R. E. FENTON.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Lieut.-Gov. Ransier's Letter Opposing Martial Law.

The letter of Lieut.-Gov. RANSIER, of South Carolina, opposing the declaration of martial law in any of the counties of that State, is signed by him as Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. He admits that unpardonable outrages have been perpetrated in many counties, and that, however the good-meaning and well-disposed of both political parties in the State may discountenance and condemn them, they have not yet ceased. But he says he opposes a declaration of martial law even in a few counties, because, first, he believes the civil power to be amply sufficient, at least under the provisions of the Kuklux law, to cope with the evil; second, because it would be a source of constant irritation, and would widen the breach and embitter the feelings between the two classes of the people, thus doing an immense deal of harm; third, because it would, in his opinion, be a great card for the Democratic Party in the next Presidential election; and fourth, because it would seem to argue the failure of reconstruction, so far, at least, as the fitness of the colored man for citizenship and self-government is concerned, he being in the majority in South Carolina. He concludes:

"I may remark that I have no pet scheme of my own, but would say that if the State Administration will do its duty; the United States officers, under the Kuklux act of Congress, theirs; the influential men outside the Republican Party, theirs, by condemning, in unmistakable terms, these outrages which we suffer, and the Republican Party hurl from official position those who may be proven to have acted in a manner discreditable to a public officer, and thereby abused the public confidence, and those who from whatever cause may be unfit for the positions they fill, then we shall have peace and a strong Government, willing and able to protect the humblest citizen, without discriminating against any class, and trust we shall be satisfied to manage our own affairs."

Maryland Politics—Acceptance of Hon. Jacob Tome.

Hon. JACOB TOME has written the following letter, accepting the Republican nomination for Governor of Maryland:

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Sept. 16, 1871.

Hon. O. C. Fulton and others, Committee:

GENTLEMEN: I am in receipt of your favor of 13th inst., informing me of the action of the Republican Convention held on the 13th inst., whereby I am officially informed that I have been unanimously selected as the candidate of the Republican Party for Governor of the State of Maryland. In accepting the distinguished honor conferred upon me by so large and influential a body of my fellow-citizens, I do so aware of the duty and responsibility attached to the position, and also of the apparently heavy odds we are called upon to overcome. Trusting in the righteousness of our cause and the intelligence of the good people of Maryland, I enter into the contest with the firm belief that we shall come out victorious. I have no pledges to make, excepting to refer to my past political record, and to promise you, if elected, to use all the power I possess in fostering and encouraging the industry and education of the people, and in husbanding the resources of the State, considering only the welfare of all the citizens of the Commonwealth.

I am, very truly, yours, J. TOME.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Twentieth Ward O'Brien Association.

The numerous friends of Ex-Sheriff O'BRIEN in the Twentieth Ward rallied at No. 419 West Thirty-ninth-street last evening, and formed an O'Brien Association. The following is a list of the officers elected: President, WM. MCTAGGART; Vice-President, John O'Garran; Secretary, James J. Hackett; Treasurer, Nathaniel J. Hackett; Sergeant-at-arms, Wm. Kearns. A stirring address was made by Mr. THOMAS FEELY, of the Eighteenth Ward, who indignantly denounced SWEENY and HALL as unworthy to hold positions of public trust, on account of their corrupt practices. He strongly advocated the election of Mr. O'BRIEN as State Senator, speaking of him as a noble, charitable and honest young man.

Local Political Brevities.

The Twentieth Ward admirers of PATRICK LOGAN, the dismissed Policeman, last evening organized a Club No. 4, bearing his name, for the purpose of working in his interest in his candidature for Assembly.

A regular meeting of the James O'Brien Central Organization of the Twentieth Ward was held last evening at No. 436 West Thirty-first-street. The business of the evening was the election of officers for the ensuing half year.

At a meeting of the Second Assembly District Republican Convention, Queens County, held at Jamaica, yesterday, a resolution offered by Mr. J. B. COOPER, indorsing the administration of President GRANT, was unanimously adopted.

The Ninth Ward James O'Brien Association met last evening, in Jefferson Hall, Hudson-street. Speeches were made, denunciatory of the "Ring," and advocating the union of all Democratic organizations in the City in an effort to subvert the rule of Tammany Hall.

The Ninth Ward German Democratic Association met last evening at No. 501 Hudson-street, and resolved to take such action, in connection with all other Democratic organizations that would unite therefor, as would be most likely to secure an honest Democratic administration of the City Government.

The Nachtmann Central Club of the Sixth Senatorial District met last evening in Concordia Hall. Delegates were present from the Tenth, Eleventh and Seventeenth Wards. Speeches were delivered by Major OBERMANN, Col. GUTH, S. SCHREITMULLER and others in support of Mr. NACHTMANN's candidature.

The Republican electors of the several towns of Queens County, comprising the First and Second Assembly Districts, held their primaries on Monday evening last, and chose delegates to the District Conventions held at Jamaica yesterday, and the one to be held at Roslyn today. Supporters of Gen. GRANT elected their delegates by a large majority, and passed resolutions criticising Tammany Hall, and expressing their confidence in the present Administration.

A meeting of the German Americans of the Twentieth Assembly District was held last night at No. 900 Third-avenue, JOHN SCHMIDT, President. A series of resolutions were passed denouncing the frauds of the City Government, and calling upon the Germans to act as a unit at the coming election. They determined upon holding a mass-meeting next month.

A meeting of the German American Association of the Nineteenth Ward was held last night, CHRISTIAN SCHWARTZ acting as President. Major PHILLIP F. SMITH presented the draft of a constitution and by-laws, which were adopted. A committe was appointed to confer with other organizations in the Senatorial District to make preparations for having a grand mass-meeting. Five delegates were also appointed to attend a meeting of the State organization.

The Central O'Donovan Rossa Club held a meeting last evening. Arrangements were made for the organization of O'Donovan-Rossa Clubs in every Ward of the City. The Chairman reported that the prospects of Mr. ROSSA's success were looking brighter every day. Mr. ROSSA, he said, would not identify himself with any political party or faction, but would run as an independent candidate for Register. He also intimated that the St. Patrick's Mutual Alliance Association would support ROSSA.

POLITICAL NOTES.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY is a delegate to the Minnesota Republican State Convention.

The Republicans of Boston will elect their delegates to the State and other Conventions tomorrow.

In a vote for the adoption of a new Constitution for the State of Nebraska, yesterday, twenty-six prominent points in the State heard from show a majority of 1,579 against its adoption.

Mr. FRANCIS HYATT, of the town of Fenner, has been nominated for the Assembly by the Republicans of the Second District of Madison County. He represented the district in 1860.

Hon. A. B. BANKS and Mr. JOHN TRACEY are the prominent candidates for the Democratic nomination for Senator in Albany County. The Convention is to be held in New-Salem on Thursday.

There is now no doubt of the election of Hon. JOHN M. COGHLAN, the Republican candidate to Congress in the Third District of California. He ran ahead of his ticket in several counties.

The Chemung County Republican Convention, by its election of a delegate to the Judicial Convention, gave expression in favor of the nomination of Hon. GABRIEL L. SMITH for Justice of the Supreme Court.

The Boston Journal rather obscurely says that the speech of Gen. BUTLER at Lawrence, on Saturday evening, would have been hailed with delight in Paris when the madness of the most intense Communists ruled the hour.

The revenue reformers and their allies in Ohio are said to be engineering a movement looking to the election to the United States Senate of FREDERICK HASSURACK, editor of the Cincinnati Volks Blatt, as representing the German Republican Schurz interest.

The official vote of San Francisco for Congressman shows the following result: S. O. HOUGHTON, Republican, 13,919; LAWRENCE ARCHER, Democrat, 11,045; Republican majority, 2,874. At the last Congressional election the Democrats had 1,880 majority.

The Boston Traveller says if Gen. BUTLER receives the Republican nomination at Worcester the result will be due, in a great measure, to the folly of his enemies. And the Traveller thinks his "enemies" ought to unite on Dr. LORING, and says they can defeat Gen. BUTLER in the Convention in no other way.

The new State Government of California comes into power on the first Monday in December next. The Legislature will assemble on that day, and Gov. NEWTON BOOTH will begin his four years' term. It has generally been erroneously supposed that the political year began in California in January.

A letter from a friend of Col. MCCOOK, received by Senator THURMAN, informs him that the Ohio Democratic candidate for Governor, has regained, by four weeks of rest and the magic sea-air at Long Branch, his former elasticity of step, and clearness of memory and utterance.

One of the Democratic papers of New-Jersey denies a current report to the effect that Hon. JOEL PARKER's reluctance to accept the Democratic nomination for Governor was overcome by the offer of certain persons to supplement his salary while in office by $10,000 per annum.

The Elmira Advertiser alludes favorably to a suggestion that Hon. JACKSON S. SCHULTZ, of this City, be nominated for the office of Secretary of State, and says that it will deem it a fortunate thing if a man of so high personal and political standing, large acquaintance in the State, and peculiar qualifications for the office, shall be placed on the ticket by the Convention.

Eight Republican members of the New-Jersey Senate hold over, and the Republicans will need to elect but three members this Fall to secure a majority. Seven counties will elect new members, and five of these last year gave decisive Republican majorities. Four of them at least are regarded as certainly Republican this year.

Gen. BANKS will not return home in season to preside over the Massachusetts Republican State Convention, and the State Central Committee will, therefore, invite Gov. BOUTWELL to preside. Should he decline, it is said they will offer the position to Mr. JAMES M. STONE, of Charlestown, whereat the Springfield Republican refuses to be comforted, regarding the selection as deplorable.

Gov. WARMOTH, of Louisiana, has refused to accept Mr. JOHN A. WALSH's challenge, for three reasons, either one of which is sufficient, but he says he is ready to submit the question between them to impartial persons, or to the Courts of the State, whose doors are always opened at the knock of men fancying themselves suffering from wounded honor.

Hon. ALEXANDER H. RANDALL has accepted the Republican nomination for Attorney-General of Maryland, and in his letter incidentally commends the wise, faithful and economical administration of President GRANT. Hon. LAWRENCE J. BRENGLE has accepted the Republican nomination for Controller of the Treasury of the same State.

The Republican State Convention of Illinois meets at Springfield, today, to nominate a candidate for Congressman at Large. There is no other office to be filled by general election this year. The several counties have instructed their delegates to vote for Ex-Gov. OGLESBY for the nomination, notwithstanding his letter declaring that he would not be a candidate.

Republicans of Hudson present the name of SILAS W. TOBEY, of that city, for the office of Inspector of State Prisons. Columbia County, they say, has never had a candidate on the Republican State ticket. Mr. TOBEY is a practical mechanic, and an energetic and successful business man. He was at one time Treasurer of Columbia County, and acquired the reputation of being a prompt and efficient public officer.

The returns of the Maine election are in from all but twenty-two small towns, and give Gov. PERHAM a majority of 10,822 in a total vote of 105,552, an increase of 5,751 over the aggregate last year, and a Republican gain of 2,585. Twenty-five Republican Senators have been elected, and five Democrats, a Democratic gain of two. The House will stand 111 Republican, thirty-eight Democrats, and one Independent, with one district yet to be heard from.

Of the candidates in California for the United States Senate, the San Francisco Chronicle speaks thus: "The Sacramento Union evidently favors Congressman A. A. SARGENT. COLE is confident of an easy victory. PHELPS hasn't any more show than he had for Governor. JOHN B. FELTON is quietly surveying the situation. If he concludes to take a hand, the fight will be really interesting."

The Republicans of the Second District of Cayuga County have nominated ELIJAH E. BROWN for the Assembly. He is a farmer who has been prominently connected with the affairs of his own town, Niles, as well as his district at large, for many years. He enjoys the confidence of his neighbors in the highest degree, and, the Auburn Advertiser says, possesses the necessary qualifications of a good official, being honest, capable and energetic.

The Texas Legislature reassembled in the State Capitol at Austin on the 12th inst. The Senate lacked one of a quorum, and adjourned until the next day. During the day two additional Senators arrived in town. There were sixty-five members of the House present—five more than a quorum. The advocates of a general State election this Fall claim fifty-one votes in the House for it. Twenty of these are Republicans.

Gov. DAVIS has issued another order to secure a fair and peaceable election in Texas, instructing Registrars and Judges more clearly as to their powers and duties, and providing for the appointment of a well-known and respectable citizen of each party, at every voting-place, who shall be permitted to be present in the room where the election is going on, and remain during its entire progress and the counting of the votes.

Republicans in Western Massachusetts, as a class, favor the nomination of Hon. WILLIAM B. WASHBURN. Those in the eastern counties, where they oppose BUTLER, are divided between Dr. LORING and Mr. RICE. Dr. LORING claims and professes to know certainly, that a considerable number of the delegates reported for BUTLER are for him, and were chosen to support him. Congressman DAWES is coming home from the West this week, and will throw his influence in favor of the nomination of Mr. WASHBURN.

The New-Orleans Times says that within the $25,000,000 limit, prescribed by the amendment to the State Constitution, the credit of Louisiana will be firmly maintained. The bonds which have been issued are all covered by that amendment, and, the Times promises, they shall be paid, principal and interest. But beyond these, and for all bonds which may be issued in excess of the constitutional limitation, there will be no legal or moral liability on the part of the State and people.

Major BUNDY, in last evening's Mail, says he has been surprised by his selection as one of the delegates chosen at the meeting at Apollo Hall, on Monday night, to attend the Republican State Convention next month, and adds that while he is grateful for the intended honor, he desires publicly to say that he will have nothing to do with either one of the contending organizations of the Republican Party in this City, while each of them contains many men with whom it would be an honor to be associated.

OBITUARY.

George Alexander Hamilton.

A London cable telegram announces that GEORGE ALEXANDER HAMILTON, permanent Secretary of the Treasury under the Government of the Earl of DERBY, died on Monday, at his residence at Balbriggan in the County of Dublin.

GEORGE ALEXANDER HAMILTON was born at Tyrella House, County Down, Ireland, Aug. 29, 1802, and he was educated at Rugby and Trinity College, Oxford. Mr. HAMILTON entered the political field early in life, being a candidate in the Conservative interest, at the age of twenty-four, in the County of Dublin. The election contest lasted fourteen days, and resulted in his defeat by a small majority. Undismayed by his non-success, Mr. HAMILTON again contested that county in 1830 and 1832, being each time defeated. In 1835 he was invited to present his name for the City of Dublin against DANIEL O'CONNELL, the great agitator, then in the very zenith of his fame and power. Despite the odds against him, Mr. HAMILTON offered himself as a candidate "in opposition to Mr. O'CONNELL and Mr. O'CONNELL's principles." Though again defeated at the polls, the indefatigable candidate for Parliamentary honors succeeded in entering the House by unseating O'CONNELL on formal petition. The investigation in the petition created great excitement throughout Ireland, and the length of time occupied by the Committee was unexampled in the annals of election petitions, as the proceedings lasted more than a year. In 1832, Mr. HAMILTON attracted considerable public attention by proposing—the celebrated Dr. BLYTHE being the seconder—of the formation of the Conservative Society for Ireland. His speech on that occasion, and his advocacy of the cause in the discussions which followed, produced a strong impression on the public mind, then greatly excited, and his eloquence and persistence were so conspicuous, that in the course of a few months the great majority of the nobility and leading men of Ireland had enrolled themselves in the new Society, which in later years formed the rallying point for the great Conservative Party after the successful passage of the Reform bill. In 1837, Mr. HAMILTON again contested the City of Dublin and was defeated. He did not re-enter Parliament until 1842, when he was returned for the University of Dublin, and he continued one of the members of that important constituency till 1859, when he retired as permanent Secretary of the Treasury. During 1852 and 1858—the first and second administrations of Earl DERBY—he was the Financial Secretary to the Treasury.

In after life Mr. HAMILTON became Deputy Lieutenant for the County of Dublin, but he took no very prominent part in politics, though he was always recognized as one of the leading men of his time.

The Surrogate's Court—Another Contested Will Case Begun.

Another rather interesting contest was entered upon, yesterday, before Surrogate HUTCHINGS, in the matter of the contested will of NANCY HOEXTER, deceased, a resident of New-York, who died in April last aged fifty-six years. The deceased under her will, made in September, 1864, leaves the greater portion of her property, consisting mainly of a house and lot, No. 316 Fourth-street, and valued at about $13,000, to her husband, ISAAC L. HOEXTER, but on the condition that six months after her decease he pays over to the executors named in the will, in trust $2,500, to be applied as directed, principally, however, in paying special bequests to relatives and friends, the only exception being that the sum of $500 is devised to the congregation of Anshichesed of this City, in order that a light may be kept burning in the synagogue for one year after the death of testatrix, and prayers specially offered each year thereafter on the anniversary of her decease. Should her husband not pay over this sum of money within the time specified, then the property is to be immediately sold, and the proceeds distributed among surviving brothers and sisters of the deceased. The will is contested by Mr. HOEXTER, who, in the allegations filed, alleges that the testatrix, at the time of making the will, was of unsound mind; and, besides that, the paper is not executed and attested according to law. The formal testimony of one of the subscribing witnesses was taken yesterday, when the case was adjourned until today. CHARLES FRASER, Esq., appeared in support of the will, and Messrs. CORNELL, MCCOLLOUGH & MCDONALD in opposition thereto.

The Fulton Ferry Difficulty—Brooklyn Will Give the Land if the Company Reduce the Ferriage at All Hours to One Cent.

The Water and Drainage Committee of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, to whom was referred the dispute between the city and the Fulton Ferry Company, growing out of the alleged encroachment by the latter upon certain land belonging to the city, met yesterday, Alderman DWYER in the chair, and heard the case argued at length. BENJAMIN D. SILLIMAN appeared for the Ferry Company and Corporation Counsel DE WITT for the city. The former said that he was willing to concede that Brooklyn and not New-York had the title to the land in question, but he claimed that every interest of the city demanded that the land in question be ceded to the Company for the nominal consideration of $1 a year.

M. DE WITT thought it was of importance to determine in which city the title resided, and that, he said, could only be done by the Courts. If, however, he added, it belongs to Brooklyn, it would be absurd to talk of ceding it to any Company for $1 a year. In consideration for the grant made by New-York, the ferriage had been reduced to one cent between the hours of 5 and 7½ morning and evening, and he would demand that Brooklyn should only make the concession demanded by the Ferry Company, on condition that the ferriage, at all hours of the day, be reduced to one cent. This, Mr. SILLIMAN said, would be an impossibility, as most of the ferries at the present rates do not pay expenses. The Committee then adjourned, subject to the call of the Chair.

Funeral of Ex-Judge Stuart.

The funeral of Judge SIDNEY H. STUART took place yesterday afternoon, from his late residence, No. 84 West Eighty-fourth-street. It was attended by a numerous body of his personal friends, and many of the shining lights of the Bar. The body was laid out in a beautiful rose-wood casket, ornamented with silver-plated bar handles, and on the lid was engraven the name and age of the deceased. A cross and anchor made of tuberoses and other fragrant flowers lay at the feet of the corpse. Among the mourners present were Judges Cardozo and Garvin, and Justice McQuade, Col. Fellows, Judge Bedford, Police Capt. Helm, of the Sixteenth Precinct; Commissioner Osborn, John Graham, Assistant District-Attorney Sedgwick, Henry L. Clinton, Mr. Purdy, Assistant United States District-Attorney, Ex-Judge Phillips, Judge Shandley and Ex-Alderman Tuomey.

Rev. Dr. CHAPIN, the Universalist clergyman, preached the funeral oration and paid a fine tribute to the worth of the departed. At about 2½ o'clock the funeral cortège started for Green-Wood Cemetery.

Death from Hydrophobia.

MICHAEL LYDEN, a blacksmith, nineteen years of age, died at No. 491 First-avenue yesterday from hydrophobia. The deceased was bitten by a dog on the 24th of March last, and the dog was killed on the same day. The wound healed up quickly, and no further attention was paid to the matter until a few days ago, when LYDEN exhibited symptoms of hydrophobia. He was attended by a physician but grew rapidly worse, and died yesterday in terrible agony.

City Meteorological Report.

The following observations show the temperature, &c., yesterday at the Central Park Mineral Springs:

THE YELLOW FEVER.

Appearance as an Epidemic in Florida—Seven Deaths in Twenty Cases—Panic Among the Citizens.

The yellow fever has broken out at Cedar Keys, Fla., in a virulent and epidemic form. The Tallahassee Sentinel of Saturday morning last says:

"At least twenty persons have been attacked with the disease, and seven or eight deaths have already occurred. There is really a panic among the citizens, and every one able to get away has left the town. The rioters recently arrested and lodged in the jail have been released on parole, no one being found to guard or care for them. We are informed that a number of those who have fled from the Keys have gone to Jacksonville, and fears are entertained that our sister city may be the sufferer. The Mayor of our own city has very properly issued his proclamation, in which he says:

"Information has been received of the existence of yellow fever at Cedar Keys in an epidemic form. It is feared that the fever may extend along the Gulf and appear on the Atlantic coast; and although Tallahassee has heretofore been exempt when other communities have suffered from its terrible ravages, yet it behooves our citizens to adopt every precaution to preserve the city from the possible introduction of that or any other disease of a fatal character. It is difficult to establish a successful quarantine against cities or places with which there is daily communication by rail, should yellow fever unfortunately break out in their midst; but we may, by proper sanitary measures, prevent its appearance among us; and to this end I ask the citizens to employ every practical means to preserve the health of the community by the free use of disinfectants."

Decrease of Yellow Fever in Charleston, S. C.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 19.—There was one death from yellow fever during the past twenty-four hours. The Board of Health, after a thorough examination of the eight wards of the city, publish the following statement:

"The reports from the various wards show the city to be in a remarkably healthy condition, even when compared with years when no yellow fever existed. The number of cases of yellow fever in course of treatment does not exceed an average of two in each ward, and the number of persons sick from other causes is astonishingly few."

The History of Pearls—How to Select Them.

The use of pearls as insignia of royalty dates from the earliest periods. HOMER describes Juno's ear-rings as triple-eyed, and pearls formed the constant ornament of this goddess. In almost all the portraits of the Sassanian kings which have come down to us, impressed on the coinage of the period, large pearls are always seen hanging from their ears. From the Persians, the Greeks and Romans derived their love of pearls, the latter people expending large sums for their purchase. Ladies wore them as ear-rings, generally suspending three of them on a golden wire; and from the pleasant noise they made they were called crotalia, or rattles. Even the poorer classes adopted them, considering them as marks of distinction. It is remarkable to discover in the history of gems how custom and habits descend through certain races. The Tuscan women, even the poorer classes, still doat on pearls, and no matter how ill-formed or dull in color they may be, wear them in long necklaces, as their favorite ornaments. Of all nations, the Russians and Poles are the fondest of pearls, and have the handsomest collections. As very large pearls for necklaces cannot be set, they are pierced. This piercing deteriorates somewhat from their value, so there is in this condition some extravagance in their use. A necklace of thirty pearls has found lately a purchaser in St. Petersburg at $53,000. In the United States, though the market is most fastidious as to color and shape, the very large pearls in demand on the Continent are rarely found. Yet quite handsome gems are much sought after. In selecting pearls, the Indian pearl should always be taken as the only type. The form should be as close as possible to either a perfect sphere or a pear shape. The most approved color is a clear silver-like lustre, which should shine like satin, tinged with a golden shade, and even showing a pink-like blush. A pearl may be large, but if dead in color, exhibiting no lustre, its value is very much deteriorated.

Panama and native fresh-water pearls, though sometimes large, generally lack lustre. Purchasers ignorant of this distinguishing quality of excellence are often unfortunate in their selections. Messrs. STARR & MARCUS, of No. 22 John-street, (upstairs,) exhibited for our inspection the various classes of pearls, enabling us at once to justly appreciate the Oriental pearls over those heretofore mentioned.—Evening Post.

CUNDURANGO.

The wonderful remedy for cancer, syphilis, scrofula, ulcerous and other blood diseases.

Dr. P. T. KEENE having just returned from Ecuador and brought with him a quantity of the genuine cundurango bark, secured through the official recommendation and assistance of His Excellency the President of Ecuador and the Government of that Republic, we are prepared to fill orders for it, to a limited extent, and at a price one-quarter of that which the cost of the first very small supply compelled us to charge.

Spurious articles are now advertised and sold as cundurango. We have, at considerable expense, and with the co-operation of the authorities of Loja, Ecuador, the province where the plant grows, so directed the channel of our supply as to insure that none but the genuine shall be sold by us, and we particularly call the attention of the public, for their protection, to this fact.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

ROMANISM AS IT IS.

This book, an elegant octavo volume, containing 750 pages and 105 first-class engravings, is an exhaustive and standard work, eminently adapted to the times. It fully uncovers the Romish system from its origin to the present time, exposes its baseless pretences, its frauds, its persecutions, its immoralities, its opposition to our public schools, and civil and religious liberty; it shows its insidious workings, which strongly tend to bring this country under full Romish control. An entirely new and original work.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The executor's sale, embracing an extensive line of City and country real estate, held at the Exchange, yesterday, by ALLEN & BROWN, H. HENRIQUES, auctioneer, under the direction of JULIUS J. LYONS, Esq., attorney, drew together quite a large attendance of parties interested and others, thus causing the market for the time being to present an animated appearance. The transaction was attended with considerable success, although the most valuable portion of the property offered was purchased in the interests of the estate, the bids made by outside parties not warranting a transfer of title. The general result of the sale was as follows, while for details as to the lots really sold reference is made to the summary appended: First, premises Nos. 489, 491 and 493 Broome-street, south side, between Wooster-street and South Fifth-avenue, embracing three lots, with old-fashioned three-story brick buildings thereon, each lot being 21 feet front by about 100 feet in depth, purchased for estate; Nos. 489 and 491 for $20,000 each, and No. 493 for $21,500. Second, thirty-eight lots, each 25 feet front, located in the village of Grove Hill, Westchester County, on Avenues B and C, between Cedar and Cliff streets, respectively. Of the number stated twenty-eight lots were sold, at prices ranging from $210 to $265 each. Third, twenty-two City-sized lots, located at West Morrisania, Westchester County, on Walton-avenue, opposite the Fleetwood Park Race-course, bought for estate at from $700 to $1,000 per lot, and last sixty-six lots, each 25 by 100, situate respectively on Temple, Sandford, Dundas and Dublin streets, Newark, N. J., between Spring and James streets, forty of which were disposed of at from $32 50 to $40 apiece. In connection with these last-named lots, it must be stated that they were sold subject to an unpaid assessment of $30 each. The bidding during a portion of the sale was quite active.

In addition to the above, the following sale was also made by A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO., under a Supreme Court order, in foreclosure, HOMER A. NELSON, Esq., referee: Three-story and basement brick house and lot, the latter 18.6 by 70, situate on the west side of Second-avenue, 61.8 feet south of Thirty-fourth-street, sold to A. L. NASSER for $9,950. The following legal sales announced for yesterday were adjourned by the auctioneers named to the days noted: By JOSEPH MCGUIRE, sale of house and lot on Fortieth-street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, adjourned until Wednesday of next week, Sept. 26, and by JAMES M. MILLER, sale of house and lot on Seventeenth-street, between Avenue A and First-avenue, adjourned until Oct. 3.

The auction at Mamaroneck, Westchester County, which was expected to occur yesterday, at which the Grand Park property was to have been closed out, S. DINGEE & CO., auctioneers, did not take place as expected, but owing to legal difficulties has for the present been postponed. The sale of villa plots at Closter, N. J., conducted by A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BRO., was, however, carried through as advertised, and the details will be published to-morrow. For today no auctions are noticed, and the market will in all probability be undisturbed by any important event.

INSTRUCTION.

Mount Washington Collegiate Institute.

From the Daily Saratogian.

THE MOUNT WASHINGTON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE, NO. 40 WASHINGTON-SQUARE, NEW-YORK CITY, GEORGE W. CLARKE, PH. D., PROPRIETOR AND PRINCIPAL.—Having stumbled on one of the circulars of this well-known school for the education of young gentlemen, now in the twenty-ninth year of its existence, we take a little pride in calling the attention of our New-York visitors to the marked success for nearly thirty years of our fellow-townsman, Dr. Clarke, in establishing and conducting this Institute; and we feel in so doing that we confer as great a favor on them as on him, because, in the multitude of schools with which so vast a population as that of New-York abounds, the best are not unfrequently entirely overlooked.

According to the circular of this Institute, we find at the head of the Board of Visitors (which is composed throughout of distinguished gentlemen) the name of Howard Crosby, D. D., Chancellor of the New-York University College.

Dr. Clarke, with the aid of his ten accomplished assistants and an attendance of two hundred pupils, has, during the past twenty-eight years, prepared and sent to college and the pursuits of business over four thousand students.

The commanding and delightful situation of this High School on Washington-square makes it easily accessible by railroad from all parts of the City, Brooklyn, Williamsburg, Greenpoint, Jersey City, Hoboken, and Westchester.

In this square, now improved and beautified, the pupils enjoy, in their daily recreations at the recesses, all the advantages of the country, for purity of air, vigor of exercise and pleasantness of playground.

The rooms are spacious, light, well ventilated and in every respect furnished and fitted for convenience and health.

The location is unsurpassed for health, attractiveness and quiet.

CONDITIONS OF GRADUATION.

ENLARGED COURSE.

A double course of study is pursued in this Institution—namely, a Business and College Course.

The branches in which candidates for the Diploma who take the Business Course are required to be prepared are as follows:

I. Mental, Theoretical and Commercial Arithmetic.
II. Davies' Bourdon's Algebra, and four books of Plane Geometry.
III. Book-keeping by Double Entry. (Thorough course.)
IV. Ability to write in a legible commercial hand, and English composition, free from grammatical and rhetorical errors.
V. Shaw's History and Criticism of English Literature.
VI. Natural Philosophy and General History.
VII. Ability to translate, write and pronounce correctly one foreign language.

The branches in which candidates for the diploma who take the College Course are required to be prepared, are as follows:

I. Mental and theoretical arithmetic.
II. Davies' Bourdon's Algebra, and four books of plane geometry.
III. Latin and Greek for the Freshman Class in College.
IV. Outlines of history and Shaw's English Literature.
V. Principles of double entry bookkeeping and elements of natural science.
VI. Ability to write, in a legible and neat manner, an English composition, which shall be free from grammatical and rhetorical errors.

Post-Graduate Studies consist of advanced parts of English Literature, Latin, Greek, French, German, Natural Science, Mathematics, Surveying, Double Entry Book-keeping, Mechanical and Architectural Drawing, and Oil-painting.

For the purpose of completing this higher course, it is well, as is not uncommon, for our graduates to remain another year and pursue the studies of the Post-Graduate Class.

R. C. Rathbone.

The following are a few of those who have had sons in his school from two to seven years:

Rev. Asa D. Smith, D. D., President Dartmouth College.
Rev. Samuel Seabury, D. D.
Hon. Wm. F. Havemeyer.
Hon. Henry E. Davies.
Hon. James Gopsill, Jersey City.
Hon. F. A. Conkling.
Hon. William E. Dodge.
Hon. William Walter Phelps, (himself many years a student in this Institute.)
William H. Field, Esq.
Rev. George D. Baker, of Detroit, who never attended any other school before going to college.
A. R. Wetmore,
George D. Phelps,
William A. Kobbe,
Peter A. Hargous,
Louis E. Hargous,
Tredwell Ketcham,
Courtlandt Palmer,
George Elder,
F. C. Havemeyer,
E. O. Lamson,
Samuel T. Knapp,
Gardner A. Sage,
John Aitken,
George Jones, N. Y. TIMES.
C. S. Withington, Esq., (himself nine years under the instruction and care of the Principal.)

And more than a thousand other equally competent judges of educational advantages, who have during the past quarter of a century had their sons prepared in this Institute for business or college.

Dr. Clarke's circular also refers with confidence and pride to the Faculties of the following Colleges to which he has sent many students, not one of whom was ever rejected for want of good preparation to enter:

New-York University,
Columbia College,
Union,
Harvard,
Amherst,
Yale,
Williams,
Princeton,
Rutgers,
Tufts,
Lafayette,
Troy Polytechnic,
And the Government Schools at West Point and Annapolis.

But as New-York is the great commercial capital of the nation, a large majority of students of this Institute enter on the pursuits of trade; and the Principal takes special pleasure in referring parents to almost every mercantile establishment and counting-house of the City for information as to the manner in which his pupils are prepared for the activities of business life.

We like very much the smack of the following remarks of Dr. Clarke on deportment:

"It may as well be said frankly that while ordinary faults are corrected in a proper way, no pupil of vicious propensities in habits, language, or manners, is allowed to remain in this Institute. The Principal will not wait for positive proof of immoral conduct. It is enough for him to know that the influence of the boy is bad to discontinue his attendance. The kindly amenities which are supposed to regulate every Christian family form the guide to the students of this Institute in their intercourse with their teachers and with each other. If in any case a pupil does not know what these are, he must go home until he learns. The order of this school resembles the quiet of a congregation at church. Mental activity does not require noise. Order and freedom constitute the perfection of government everywhere. But ORDER there must be, whether there is freedom or not. High character is as essential to usefulness and success in life as high qualification. Hence reverence for sacred things is required. The school is opened with brief religious exercises, consisting of Scriptures reading and prayer; but nothing sectarian is taught or allowed in this school."

Dr. Clarke is himself a Christian gentleman, and whilst Saratoga has sent to New-York and elsewhere many men of distinction, she has sent few of more practical value than he. Long may his usefulness continue.

P.S. by the Principal.—The week commencing Sept. 11 has been occupied at this Institute in registering and examining students, of all ages from six to twenty-one, and organizing the Departments of Letters, Science, Commerce, and Art, including those of French, German, Spanish, and Engineering.

The annual working Session begins Sept. 18. Individual students preparing for college or business are allowed to advance to higher classes as rapidly as their attainments permit. The Institute is open for visitors at any time, where interviews with the Principal and circulars of full particulars may be obtained.

$1,000,000

Connecticut Valley Railroad Company

BONDS!

Proposals will be received at the Connecticut River Banking Company, in Hartford, until 3 o'clock P. M. Saturday, Sept. 23, 1871, for the purchase of the whole or any part of

ONE MILLION DOLLARS

Of the First Mortgage Seven per Cent. Non-Taxable Bonds of the Connecticut Valley Railroad Company.

This is the whole issue, the first and only mortgage, and covers the entire property, equipment and franchise of the road.
The railroad has been built with cash subscriptions to the stock.
The Capital Stock is $1,500,000.
The amount paid in is $1,200,000, and the Bonds are issued for the complete and thorough equipment of the road.
These Bonds are payable thirty years from Jan. 1, 1871.
They are registered at the office of the Controller of the State of Connecticut, and are free from all taxes, State, municipal, and income.
They are in denominations of $1,000 each, with interest coupons attached, payable semi-annually, in January and July at the American Exchange National Bank, New-York, or Connecticut River Banking Company, Hartford, Conn.
They can be registered, if desired, and when registered, the coupons are payable to the order of the registered holder thereof.
The line of the road is on the west bank of the Connecticut River, is forty-four miles in length, extending from Hartford to Saybrook on the Sound—touching all the important towns and villages on the route.
Regular passenger-trains were running within fifteen months from the beginning of work on the road, the daily receipts from which are nearly equal to the interest on the Mortgage Bonds.
Two additional passenger-trains and also freight-trains, will be in operation by Oct. 1, 1871, and it is affirmed that the Winter traffic will be large.
A certified check or currency for ten per cent. of the par value of Bonds applied for must be inclosed with each application.
The accrued interest will be added to all accepted proposals, from July 1, 1871, until the final payment, WHICH MAY BE AT THE OPTION OF THE PURCHASER, until and including Oct. 10, 1871.
The sum advanced on proposals declined will be promptly returned.
Proposals may be addressed to

JOHN A. BUTLER,

Connecticut River Banking Company, Hartford, Conn., indorsed "Proposals for Bonds of the Connecticut Valley Railroad Company."
The right is reserved to decline all proposals which may be considered undesirable.

SOUTH CAROLINA RAILROAD COMPANY
7 PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.
Principal due 1st January, 1888, and coupons payable in New-York 1st January and 1st July.
These bonds are secured by mortgage in pursuance of a deed executed on the 1st of January, 1868, in which Henry Gourdin, H. P. Walker and James M. Calder are named trustees, being the only mortgage lien on the railway and rolling stock of the corporation, and are part of an issue made in conversion of sterling bonds amounting to £619,500 sterling, being the equivalent in United States currency to about $3,100,000, and less than $13,000 per mile, the length of railway being 243 miles.
The gross receipts of the Company for 1870 amounted to $1,468,340 53; operating expenses and renewals, $916,095 82, showing a profit of $552,244 71, or $335,244 71 in excess of its annual interest of 7 per cent. on $3,100,000 First Mortgage Bonds.
The South Carolina Railway is one of the earliest built railways in the United States; its affairs have ever been managed with care and integrity, and the present condition of the property is that of complete restoration. We recommend to investors its Mortgage Bonds, with the assurance of their being a first class security.
The above described bonds are offered for sale by the undersigned at 87½ per cent.

FINANCIAL.

First Mortgage, Convertible, 7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds

OF THE

PEORIA & ROCK ISLAND RAILWAY

OF ILLINOIS.

First Mortgage Bonds - - - $1,500,000
Capital Stock - - - - - - - - 2,000,000

This is a COMPLETED Road 91 miles in length, connecting the important Cities of Peoria on the Illinois River, and Rock Island, Moline and Davenport, on the Mississippi. Davenport, on the opposite bank of the river, is connected by a railway bridge. The last rail of this road was laid July 7, 1871, and the line is now open and being operated with a success exceeding all anticipation. In order to place upon the road the large equipment necessary for the business offered, and to construct depots, car and engine-houses, machine-shops, &c., equal to any of the best old roads in the country, as is now required of this, the Company offer, through the undersigned, $1,500,000 convertible first mortgage gold bonds, which cover the entire property of the Company, and is less than $17,000 per mile. PRESENT PRICE, 90, AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY. Principal and interest payable in coin at New-York or London, free of tax.

This road, opened for the immense local as well as through traffic, now offered, will prove one of the most profitable in the West, traversing as it does a section of country unsurpassed in fertility of soil and agricultural resources, already thickly populated and in a high state of cultivation. This is self-evident from the fact that every section of the road passes through cultivated fields and many flourishing towns and villages, with a large city and navigable river at each end. Railroads in the West have been heretofore constructed through unsettled and uncultivated regions of the country, consequently have had but little local traffic to depend upon for several years after construction. But the Peoria and Rock Island Railway is a first class COMPLETED road, with NO PARALLEL OR COMPETING LINE, and RUNS THROUGH ONE OF THE RICHEST AGRICULTURAL, MANUFACTURING AND MOST POPULOUS DISTRICTS IN THE WEST. Thus it is certain that the local business is already more than enough to sustain the road, while the through traffic is unlimited, as its connections are numerous, which can be seen by a glance at the map.

This road is a grand central link, to which many of the principal lines centralize and diverge to all parts of the continent.

We invite the attention of investors to this loan. Being familiar with the wealth and resources of the country along the line of this railway and A MEMBER OF OUR FIRM HAVING MADE A CAREFUL EXAMINATION OF THE ROAD AND ITS PROPERTY, WE CAN WITH THE UTMOST CONFIDENCE RECOMMEND THE BONDS AS A PRIME SECURITY, reliable and safe in every particular.

All marketable securities received in exchange at full rates, and bonds delivered to all parts of the country, free of express charges.

Maps, circulars, &c., with full particulars relating to the road, furnished on application by the undersigned, Financial Agents of the Company.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD.
Seven Per Cent. per Annum—Payable Semi-Annually.

This Road is now in a condition to show its great value and its very prosperous future, covering, as it does, 100 miles of the most direct possible line between the Great Lakes and deep-water navigation of the Hudson, and opening the fine counties of Ulster, Green and Delaware to railroad facilities heretofore mostly deprived of them. Fifty miles of this road is now built, and in a most thorough and substantial manner, and EARNING ALREADY 10 PER CENT. ON THE WHOLE AMOUNT OF THE $2,000,000 OF FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OVER RUNNING EXPENSES. The balance of the road, with its several sidings, viz.: To Hunters, twelve miles; to Woodstock, six miles; to Willow, one mile, and changing terminus from Rondout to Kingston Point, is under contract with able and responsible contractors, to be finished by July 1, 1872. It will be one of the best-built roads in the country, and the issue of Bonds is limited to $20,000 per mile of completed road. The Bonds are secured by Trust Deed to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, covering every description of property the Rondout and Oswego Company now own, or may acquire hereafter. The price is now 90 currency and accrued interest, with the privilege of advancing the price hereafter.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS FOR IRON FRAME BARRACK BUNKS.
QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8, 1871.
Sealed proposals in duplicate, with copy of this advertisement attached, will be received at this office until 12 o'clock noon, the 20th day of October, 1871, for the manufacture of such number, not exceeding 12,000, of Iron Frame single Barrack Bunks, as may be required for the use of the United States Army, during the present fiscal year, in accordance with the two patterns adopted by the War Department.
Plans and specifications of the adopted patterns may be seen at this office, and at the offices of the Depot Quartermasters at New-York, Philadelphia, Boston, Louisville, St. Louis, Chicago and Pittsburg.
Proposals will state distinctly at what point the bunks will be delivered to officers of the Quartermaster's Department for transportation; the price per bunk complete; as also for iron-work complete, but without the wooden slats.
The right is reserved to reject all bids offered; as also to contract for such number of each, or either pattern, as may be deemed advisable by the Quartermaster-General. Each bid must be accompanied by a guarantee of at least two responsible persons, that in case the bid is accepted, and a contract entered into, they will become sureties, in a sum equal to one-fourth of the amount of the contract, for its faithful fulfillment.
Proposals to be indorsed "Proposals for Iron Frame Bunks," and addressed to the Quartermaster-General of the Army, Washington, D. C.
M. C. MEIGS,

FLEETWOOD PARK.

Second Day of the Fall Meeting—Two Races Finished.

A Fine Day's Sport—Young Bruno and Castle Boy the Winners—Eight Heats Trotted in the 2:28 Race.

Yesterday the weather was rather chilly, and, consequently, there was but a small attendance at Fleetwood Park. Those who were present, however, were amply rewarded for their pains—the trotting, all through the afternoon, being very exciting. The unfinished race of the previous day was first called up, and, after four heats had been trotted, making eight in all, Young Bruno bore away the prize. Susie won the fifth heat, but she could never get home first again, although she made a splendid struggle in the last heat, being only beaten by a nose. The next race was the purse for the 2:50 class, $600 to first horse, $250 to second and $150 to third. In this the following horses were entered, viz.: G. N. FERGUSON enters b. m. Bright Eyes, JOHN LOVETT enters b. g. Heathen Chinee, D. PFIFER enters b. m. Louisa Moore, M. RODEN enters b. g. Castle Boy, T. CARPENTER enters b. m. May Bee, M. GOODWIN enters gr. g. Safe, J. J. BOWEN enters br. g. Jack Poor, S. T. BANE enters s. m. Ida May, P. HASKINS enters b. g. P. Haskins, of which five started—Jack Poor, Castle Boy, Louisa Moore, Bright Eyes and Haskins. This turned out an easy affair for Castle Boy, who is a very promising young horse and will be heard of to advantage again. He won easily in three straight heats. After this the 2:38 race was commenced, but owing to darkness setting in it was not finished. The purses were $900 to first horse, $400 to second and $200 to third, with the following entries, viz.: H. J. DOREMUS enters gr. g. Joe; D. DUNLEY enters gr. g. Thomas Jefferson; ALEXANDER SNYDER enters b. g. Westchester; P. JOHNSON enters b. m. Lotta; LEW. MORRIS enters b. m. Nettie Morris; BASSETT & MAR enter br. g. Bismarck; ALDEN GOLDSMITH enters b. g. Bodine; A. PATTERSON, ch. m. Belle of Oneida; J. SPLAN enters b. m. Constance, formerly Lady Saulpaugh, but of these four were withdrawn, the starters being Joe, Nettie Morris, Bodine, Belle of Oneida and Constance. The first named was a great favorite in the pools, but he behaved very badly, and was distanced in the second heat. The first two heats were won by Bodine, and the third resulted in a dead heat between him and Belle of Oneida. Bodine, who is only 6 years old, was raised by Mr. GOLDSMITH. He is by Volunteer, out of a Clay mare, and having fine action, he will in time be a very fast horse. Full details of the trotting are appended:

THE 2:28 PURSE.

FIFTH HEAT.—With the exception of Ben Starr all the horses that started in the fourth heat came out. When they got the word Charley Green and Medoc had the foremost positions, Lady Ross taking third place, and they trotted in this order to the quarter-pole, where Susie began to go to the front, and at the half-mile pole she was leading. Going up the hill Sea Foam also made up a lot of ground, and at the three-quarter pole he was at Charley Green's wheel. Susie rounded the home turn with a clear lead, and trotting squarely and finely, easily stalled off Sea Foam's challenge, and won handily by two lengths. Charley Green was third and Lady Ross fourth. Time—2:28.

SIXTH HEAT.—After two attempts they were sent off in straggling order, Susie and Bruno getting a slight advantage. The latter broke up on the turn, and was passed by Lady Ross and Sea Foam, who went by the quarter-pole in hot pursuit of Susie. Entering the backstretch, Susie still led, but Young Bruno then made a fine brush and at the half-mile was head and head with the leader. He improved his position going up the hill and gradually forged ahead, but before reaching the three-quarter pole, Sea Foam came with a rush and for a moment was in front, but breaking up on the turn, she fell back again. Susie and Bruno then finished a splendid race home, the mare having a slight lead till within fifteen yards of the string, where Bruno made a vigorous effort and won on the post by the shortest of heads. Charley Green was third and Dreadnaught next. Time—2:30½.

SEVENTH HEAT.—When the word was given Medoc and Susie were in front, but the former left his feet on the turn and Bruno took first place. At the quarter-pole he was half a length in front of Lady Ross, and he slightly increased his lead along the backstretch, where Charley Green began to close on Lady Ross, whom he headed going up the hill, and then went into pursuit of Bruno. The little horse held his advantage to the end, however, and won pretty easily by a length and a half from Charley Green. Medoc, who passed Lady Ross close to the score, was third, and Lady Ross fourth. Time—2:32½.

EIGHTH HEAT.—Lady Ross, Charley Green, and Bruno were first away, and the latter took the lead after rounding the turn. He held a slight advantage of Lady Ross at the quarter-pole, with Charlie Green next, but the latter was soon dispossessed by Susie, who trotted very fast on the backstretch, and at the quarter-pole was head and head with Bruno. A determined struggle ensued between these two up the hill, Bruno getting the best of it at the three-quarter pole, but Charley Green, coming up on a run, went inside and took the pole from him. This enabled Susie to get level with Bruno again, and a tremendous finish home resulted, Charley Green crossing the score a neck ahead of Bruno, who was only a head in front of Susie. Time—2:32¾. On account of Charley Green running so much, however, the judges gave the heat to Young Bruno, who thus won the race. Charley Green took second money, and Medoc third.

FLEETWOOD PARK, Sept. 18 and 19.—Purse of $2,000 for horses that have never beaten 2:28; $1,300 to first; $500 to second, and $300 to third.

THE 2:50 PURSE.

FIRST HEAT.—Bright Eyes got away in front with Jack Poor next, but Castle Boy took second place on the turn. At the quarter-pole Bright Eyes still led, but Castle Boy went by her on the next turn, and trotting finely went right away from the others. He was two lengths ahead at the half-mile pole and increased his lead going up the hill, and at the home turn was four lengths in front. From this point RODEN took things easy and Castle Boy won very easily by two lengths, from Bright Eyes, in 2:34¼. Jack Poor was third, Louisa Moore fourth, and Haskins distanced.

SECOND HEAT.—When the word was given Louisa Moore had the lead but she broke upon the turn and dropped rapidly astern. When fairly round the turn Castle Boy began to draw away, and trotting at his ease, was two lengths ahead of Bright Eyes at the quarter-pole. The mare broke on the turn, which left Castle Boy with a long lead, but just as he reached the half-mile pole he made a bad break and Jack Poor got within a length of him. As soon as he could be steadied, however, he shot away again and having the race safe at the home turn, jagged home a length ahead of Jack Poor. Time—2:36¾. Louisa Moore was third.

THIRD HEAT.—This heat requires but little description. Castle Boy took the lead soon after starting, increased it as he went on, and was ten lengths in front at the half-mile pole. After this he came along at leisure, and won as he pleased by a couple of lengths, thus winning the race. Bright Eyes was second, and Jack Poor third. Time—2:40. The following is a summary:

FLEETWOOD PARK, Sept. 19.—Purse of $1,000, for horses that have never beaten 2:50; $600 to first horse, $250 to second, and $150 to third.

M. Roden enters b. g. Castle Boy	1	1	1

Second heat	.38	1:15	2:36¾
Third heat	.38½	1:15½	2:40

THE 2:38 PURSE.

FIRST HEAT.—They got away on even terms, but on the turn Joe made a bad break, and before he could be steadied, was fully fifty yards astern. Going to the quarter-pole Bodine drew ahead, and trotting in fine style, was two lengths in front of Belle of Oneida at the half mile. Up the hill Bodine still led, Oneida being fifteen lengths ahead of Constance, while Joe was a long way astern. But MACE managed to get him down before reaching the three-quarter pole, and he made up his ground with a fine burst of speed. Bodine won the heat easily by three lengths, Belle of Oneida second, and Constance third, Joe just saving his distance. Time—2:31.

SECOND HEAT.—Belle of Oneida and Bodine were first away, with Joe next, but the latter again behaved badly and soon dropped to the rear. Bodine then went away, and trotted into the backstretch with a clear lead of Belle of Oneida, who was some lengths ahead of Constance. No change occurred in these positions, and they finished in the same order, Bodine winning at his ease by a length. Time—2:30¼. Joe came in 200 yards behind, and was of course distanced.

THIRD HEAT.—Bodine showed in front soon after starting, with Constance second and Belle of Oneida third, and they trotted in this order until reaching the half-mile pole, when Belle of Oneida made a spurt and, collaring Bodine at the foot of the hill, headed him, and was two lengths ahead at the three-quarter pole. She came round into the straight with a clear lead, but tiring fast, Bodine began to close on her. At the drawgates Bodine made his effort, and trotting splendidly, got up in the last stride and made a dead heat with the mare. Time—2:33. Constance was third. It was now getting very dark, and the judges postponed the race until 2 P. M. today. The following is a summary as far as it has been trotted:

SAME DAY.—Purse of $1,500 for horses that have never beaten 2:38; $900 to first, $400 to second and $200 to third.

TODAY'S TROTTING.

There will be two trots today in addition to the unfinished one of yesterday. The great attraction will be the contest between Henry, George Palmer and American Girl, for a purse of $4,500. Henry is the favorite in the betting. There will also be a purse of $2,000 for 2:31 horses, with nine entries, including Fleetwood and Gray Jack. If the weather is fine, a grand race may be anticipated.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FAIR.

Curiosities of Industry, Art and Science—Things Amusing and Things Instructive—Industrial Processes and Products—Advent of Vinnie Ream.

The interest of the great industrial Fair of the American Institute, instead of decreasing grows greater day by day. New wonders constantly come in, and many elaborate machines which were incomplete at first, have now been put in perfect order, and perform the most complicated processes before the eye of the beholder, with a rapidity and smoothness which seem positively marvelous. Only the most undesirable back corners of the floors now remain unoccupied, and even they are fast filling up. The main hall is crammed and crowded full, but in spite of the multiplicity of detail, the harmony of the whole is admirably preserved, and the mass of flowers, fruit, furniture, pictures, bronze, glass and china, blends before the eye into one charming garden of color, and in the evening when the aisles are crowded with people, when the fountain and the band are playing on their respective elevations, and when the grand crystal chandelier is glittering with light, and the long row of side jets skirt the hall with an unintermitting blaze, the effect as seen from the gallery is positively magnificent.

While there is fully the usual number of useful things on exhibition this year there is certainly far more than the ordinary display of amusing matters and of those rare objects which combine the instructive and amusing. The Stevens Institute in Hoboken, contributes some historical curiosities of especial interest, including the only piece of the old Atlantic Cable of 1856, which is now above water; also the quaint and most curious steam propeller engine, said to be the first known, which was invented by the father of the late Commodore STEVENS, at the beginning of this century and used to propel a boat on the Hudson River. It is said that this machine was constructed by WATT.

Near by is a beautiful model of a marine engine with water wheels which feather themselves automatically as an oar is feathered in the hand of a skillful boatman. It is driven by compressed air, as is also a little locomotive perfect in every part which will race furiously over a mimic track. Another model of particular interest in these days is a large wooden fac simile of the Pneumatic Tube Railway which it was proposed to erect in Broadway. The Stevens Institute is well represented in another line by a splendid Rhumkorpf coil electric battery, which throws a spark more than two feet long, which perforated the other day a cube of glass three inches in circumference, and which possesses sufficient power to kill three men. The Geissler tubes are shortly to be attached to this coil, by which the current as it passes through them will be tinged and tinted with a myriad of kaleidoscopic colors.

An enormous magnet from the Stevens Institute also challenges admiration. In the purely scientific line Columbia College is well represented by some splendid cases of chemicals and minerals from the School of Mines. In the mineral cases, among other things, are facsimile models of some of the big nuggets, including one of 1,740 ounces from Australia, one of 1,200 ounces from Siberia, and other smaller ones. Among the chemicals, some brilliant colorings and dyes, and some fine white handsome cones of beet sugar hold the eye of the most hasty passer-by.

At the end of the main hall stands a beautiful flour-mill, made for HECKER & Co. at a cost of $12,000 especially for this exhibition. It is fronted with glass, and each step of the whole process is made perfectly plain to the observer from the point where the wheat grains go in to the receptacle where it is deposited as fine flour. The Messrs. JEWELL, of Brooklyn, have a place next to this mill, and when the flour comes out of it they pack it up in bags and parcels, or bake it into bread and distribute it among the visitors in the little sacks and in fair round loaves. Just across the aisle from this is a chromatic press, striking off the programmes of the evening concert, and beautifully illustrating the art of printing in colors. Beyond this stand the tables of fruit, with a splendid array of apples and 250 separate varieties of pears, and beyond these again are flowers, which give a delicious smell, and birds in gorgeous cages, who fill the air with their twittering. The wilderness of handsome carpets, downy beds and fabulously comfortable chairs which surround the main hall, it would be impossible to describe, and to name even the novelties among the innumerable machines which rattle and roar in the rear extension would require much time and space. To see them is to realize the old comparison of the steam-engine to the elephant's trunk which tears down a tree or picks up a pin with equal ease. We stand first, and see a drill cut through iron like cheese, and then bring away a fragile toy chair which has been sawed out by a machine with the utmost delicacy.

Besides the usual magnificent display of photographs, the art department contains some spirited bas reliefs in bronze, by POWELL, some exquisite designs in silver, from TIFFANY, a perfect collection of the statuettes of ROGERS—and most notable of all, the works of Miss VINNIE REAM, in marble, including her bust of LINCOLN, which any one may see and criticise for himself. Miss REAM will shortly take her place among these children of her brain and pass some hours there every day, modelling in plaster.

Alleged Illegal Arrest of a Merchant—A Singular Case.

A private examination in the case of the United States against MARCUS BROD, which took place in the office of Commissioner DAVENPORT, yesterday, developed some facts of interest to merchants. About three weeks ago DAVID W. IVES entered the store of Mr. MARCUS BROD, a prominent tobacco merchant, doing business at No. 131 Maiden-lane, and representing himself as an Internal Revenue detective, demanded to see the book of sales of the years 1869 and 1870. The book-keeper of Mr. BROD, who, it appeared, had been there but a few months, handed him the sales-book of 1870, the only book of which he had any knowledge. This, it is alleged, did not satisfy IVES, who entered the private office of Mr. BROD, and demanded to see the book for 1869. Mr. BROD made the reply that he did not have it there. The place being a private office, IVES was requested to get outside the railing, and told that any books in the office which he required would be shown him. He refused to go out, and was assured that, if he did not get outside the railing, he would be put out. He still refused, threatening, if they put a hand on him, he would send them to prison for ten years, and at the same time taking hold of the handle of the safe; whereupon, under instructions of Mr. BROD, the porter, PATRICK GRIFFIN, according to the testimony of the book-keeper, "gently removed" IVES outside the railing. IVES thereupon went before a United States Commissioner and swore out a warrant against Mr. BROD and his porter, charging them with attempting to hinder and delay a United States officer in the examination of books in the course of his official duty. The officer who executed the warrant arrested Mr. BROD and his porter in the evening, and stating that he had instructions from the Commissioner to lock them up all night, conveyed them, ironed together, through the public streets to Ludlow-street Jail. On the following morning they were again conveyed through the crowded thoroughfares to the Commissioner's office, where they gave bail. It need hardly be stated here that the Commissioner utterly repudiates the insinuation that he gave any instructions as to the imprisonment of the parties. After repeated adjournments, the testimony in the case was taken yesterday, and the case will be argued today before the Commissioner. It is claimed on the part of Mr. BROD that not only were the facts wholly insufficient on which to base an arrest, but that, as matter of law, the complainant being a mere detective, and not a Government officer provided for by statute, he was not even entitled to an inspection of the books.

Mr. PURDY conducted the examination on the part of the Government; Mr. HENRY MORRISON for the defense.
